INDIA'S FIRST PVT LAUNCH PAD GETS READY

SV KRISHNA CHAITANYA @ Chennai

WHILE the country is celebrating the successful launch of Vikram-S rocket, India's first private rocket, another spacetech company from Chennai, Agnikul Cosmos, incubated by IIT-Madras, is quietly building India's first private launch pad at Satish Dhawan Space Centre in Sriharikota for its maiden rocket launch tentatively scheduled for next month.

"The launch pad work commenced six months ago and is nearing completion. It's a miniature launch facility customised to suit our requirements. Unlike Skyroot, we can't use ISRO's sounding rocket complex or use PSLV/GSLV launch pads due to their sheer gigantic size for our Agnibaan rocket which will use our patented semi-cryogenic engine. We needed a modular launch pad with an umbilical tower to support the vertical launch that we are planning," Srinath Ravichandran, CEO and co-founder, Agnikul Cosmos, told TNIE.

ISRO chairman S Somanath said the space agency welcomes private players to build infrastructure, including launch pads, at Sriharikota. "It all depends on the demand. If there is a need for more launch pads, private players are free to synergise. The space reforms introduced in 2020 were not only meant for manufacturing rockets, it can also be for ramping up infrastructure." On why it took considerable time for the launch of Agnibaan, Srinath said "Ours is a completely different technology." P5

Voter data theft: EC orders probe by senior IAS officer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A day after the opposition Congress accused the state government of allowing a private agency to collect voter information and tampering with the data, the Election Commission (EC) on Friday ordered a probe by a senior IAS officer. The Congress, however, insisted on a thorough probe by a Karnataka High Court judge.

Chief Electoral Officer (CEO), Karnataka, Manoj Kumar Meena told The New Indian Express that they have asked Regional Commissioner (RC), Bengaluru Division, Amlan Aditya Biswas to give a factual report on complaints filed by an NGO, KPCC and media reports on the allegations. "In view of the sensitivity and seriousness of the issue, it is felt necessary that a comprehensive investigation is required to be conducted. Hence, you are directed to conduct a detailed inquiry into the matter and send a comprehensive report at the earliest," CEO Meena stated in a letter to the Regional Commissioner.

The CEO's letter cites a complaint by Samanvaya Trust, letters received from the office of Chief Commissioner, BBMP, a complaint received through WhatsApp, and a complaint by the KPCC.

Referring to the complaint received through WhatsApp, the CEO's letter stated: "…it is alleged that a private person has used an identity card to impersonate a Booth Level Officer in Mahadevapura LAC. With regard to the said complaint, the Electoral Registration Officer, 174 Mahadevapura LAC has reported that identity cards were issued to M/s Chilume to work as "Booth Level Coordinating Officer" on 29/01.2022 based on the permission of the DEO (District Election Officer) given to the said institution has made photocopies of the ID cards and written "BLO" with date 09/06/2022 on the cards (sic). With regard to the misuse of permission and ID card, a case has been registered with Whitefield Police station on 15/11/2022." P4

Nations that aid terror must pay the price: Modi

'No ifs and buts in dealing with global threat'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

ASSERTING that there can be no 'ifs and buts' in dealing with terrorism, Prime Minster Narendra Modi on Friday tore into countries that are known to support terrorists by offering them political, ideological and financial backing. In a not-so-hidden reference to Pakistan and China, Modi said the rest of the world must come together to impose cost on countries that help terrorists flourish. Organisations and individuals that try to create sympathy for terrorists must also be isolated, he added.

"Certain countries support terrorism as part of their foreign policy," Modi said while addressing the No Money for Terror ministerial conference here on Friday. Delegates from 73 countries and representatives of 15 multilateral organisations are attending the two-day conference being held in Delhi on Friday and Saturday. According to officials, Pakistan and Afghanistan were not invited to the conference. China was invited but no representative from that country turned up.

Dwelling at length on the different shades of terrorism, Modi said: "International organisations must not think the absence of war means peace. Proxy wars are also dangerous and violent," adding that the world needs to unite against all kinds of overt and covert backing of terror.

Taking a swipe at China, Modi said some countries make indirect arguments in support of terrorism to block action against terrorists, adding that there should be equal outrage and action against all kinds of terror attacks.

Speaking at the conference, Union home minister Amit Shah opined that financing of terror is more dangerous than terrorism itself. He said terrorists seem to be using cryptocurrency and the darknet to raise money and radicalise youth.

Money trail

Underlining the need to strike at the root of terror funding, Modi said organised crime needs to be crushed because money made in gun-running, drugs and smuggling is pumped into terrorism

All well in MVA after Raut warns Rahul?

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

HOURS after the Uddhav Thackeray faction of the Shiv Sena warned the Congress that questioning Veer Savarkar's patriotism could result in the break-up of their Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) alliance in Maharashtra, the grand old party sought to douse the fire claiming their coalition was very much intact.

The Uddhav faction has been under pressure from the BJP to react strongly to the insult of Savarkar by Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, who raked up his mercy petition to the British Raj, alleging his contribution to the freedom struggle was tainted.

Uddhav Sena's leader Sanjay Raut joined the perception battle by putting the Congress on notice, saying: "We consider Veer Savarkar a reverential figure. If Rahul Gandhi continues to articulate such views against Savarkar, it can break the MVA alliance in Maharashtra."

Hours later, Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh claimed the matter had been sorted out after he spoke to Raut. He said both of them agreed that there was no crack in the MVA. Ramesh said in democracy, everyone has a right to hold different views. "We believe in documentary evidence that Savarkar helped the British rulers." He added that the party was not raising it intentionally, but it came in different context.

Lumpy skin disease: 1.44 L cattle infected in 6 months

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

THE fast-spreading lumpy skin disease among cattle is posing a serious challenge to the state government as 1.44 lakh cases have been reported in the last six months, of which one lakh cases were recorded in just one month's time.

Over 11,000 cattle have died so far, farmers are in distress as the milk production has drastically come down and it is getting difficult to put oxen to work in agricultural fields. The RDPR Department has ordered fogging in all Gram Panchayat limits and surrounding areas where lumpy skin disease is detected. At some clusters, milk production has come down by 10 to 20%. The state average of 94 lakh litres of milk production has come down to 90 lakh litres per day.

As per data shared by the Animal Husbandry Department officials, the state recorded 2,070 deaths of cattle between April and October, which increased to 11,031 deaths, indicating a spike in the number of deaths by 9,000 in a span of one month. Of the 1.44 lakh cases detected so far, 61,400 animals are under treatment, which also means recovery rate is only 60 per cent. It can be noted that last month, CM Basavaraj Bommai had convened a meeting in which he had said that the government is giving a compensation of Rs 20,000 for death of a cow and Rs 30,000 for oxen deaths. Multi-modal integration key to fix urban transport issues: BMRCL MD

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE
@Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru Metro is looking to emerge as an end-to-end solutions provider, which apart from being an efficient mass rapid transit system, is keen to adopt multi-modal integration, offering a seamless service to people.

Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) Managing Director Anjum Parwez said, "At present, we are operating 56 km, but by June 2025, we will have a network of 175 km. By 2031, it is expected to touch 314 km. But one question remains, is the Metro a solution on its own and can it create the needed solution for the future of mobility. The answer is 'no', since the Metro is a linear project and operates in an area with wider roads and more space. The focus then shifts to other modes of transport. In Bengaluru, we have BMTC, personal vehicles, two-wheelers and autos. The challenge is to find ways of integrating all these modes and providing a seamless experience to people."

Speaking on 'Future of Mobility' at the 25th edition fo the Bengaluru Tech Ssummit 2022, Parwez said, "One of the challenges is to increase the utilisation of public transport in Bengaluru. That's where we need multi-modal integration. We have to start from the workability of the city, use of non-motorised vehicles, how we can promote car-sharing so that people can easily reach their nodal point, and if last-mile connectivity is available or not. The other is ascertaining the time a person spends getting onto public transport. In the Metro, especially during peak hours, it takes at least 15 minutes in the queue. We introduced smart cards. Fifteen days ago, we introduced QR code app-based ticketing."

He said, "We are now looking at linking different modes. A big problem today is the transfer penalty. If a person comes by bus and then takes the Metro, he will have to pay for both. If we can combine the tickets, then we can do away with this penalty."

Parwez added, "It is to be seen if the Metro can double up as a shopping zone and office space. My idea is to make the Metro an end-to-end solution. The need is to build confidence about public transport among the public."

INTERVIEW

'Technology at the forefront at Chanakya University'

Dr Vinayachandra Banavathy, Director, Communications, Chanakya University

What is the extent of NEP implementation at the university?
Implementation of the National Education Policy is at the forefront at our university. While implementation is not 100 per cent, it is a work in progress. We have formulated a Institutional Development Plan (IDP) as per NEP requirements, focussed on promoting Indian Knowledge Systems, and have ensured multiple exit and multiple entry options for students. These, we believe, are the major components of the NEP that have already been implemented.

How many students are you expecting for the coming academic year?
Totally, we are looking at more than 800 students joining us for the 2023-24 academic year. Admissions and classes have already occurred for the academic year 2022-23, so the university has 100 students studying under different schools in its maiden year coming from 16 states in the country. We're also undertaking admissions for the postgraduate and PhD programmes.

What is the infrastructure of the university like?
Classes for the current year are taking place at our Brigade Orchards Campus near Devanahalli on Bengaluru's outskirts. However, in the next academic year, these will be shifted to our larger Global Campus at Haralur. It is a large 116-acre campus located in the KIADB Aerospace and Defence Park, with all digital classrooms. Technology is at the forefront at the university.

What are the different schools present under the university?
Currently, there are three schools functioning on campus - the School of Commerce and Management, the School of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, and the School of Mathematics and Natural Sciences. We are also working towards the establishment of a School of Education. The School of Public Policy and Legal Studies, and School of Education are still under development.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

19th November: Cancerian patterns add to an already rich planetary picture. If I were to highlight one important quality today, it would be compassion. People who care for others do so out of selflessness, but can hope that the cosmos will care for them in return. I hope so, too!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
It's an adventurous sort of a weekend, so don't end up stuck at home if you can help it. There's a slight possibility of a disagreement over who does what, so take the chance to clarify your options. You might actually find that you've been wasting your time.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Venus' mysterious motions set a whole series of social events in motion. Be selective about what invitations you accept, and maintain your high standards in all areas. And at work, a generous gesture will be repaid many times over, so do what you can to help those in need.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You will have to listen to others, which could make quite a change! Seriously, though, there is one particular person who will make you see things through a completely different light. But can you be sure who they are? It's easy to misjudge people, so no jumping to instant conclusions.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
There is one thing to be said about your current stars - that you should keep on the go. Even your family and domestic planets look lively, so feel free to change your plans. Plus, even though you're still a little sensitive, your emotional survival instincts are good.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Your stars favour high-spending, self-indulgence. Free pleasures are included, so don't think that life absolutely has to be extravagant. And don't let work and routine chores hold you up! In addition, of course, you don't want to see rivals getting their way because of your mistakes.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There are pleasant stay-at-home influences today, but if you are very sensitive to subtle planetary patterns, you'll be brimming with hope for the future. Watch out for differences of opinion and make sure that they don't get out of hand. Perhaps you should try to see what partners really want.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Mars' most energetic transits tend to drive all Librans into a frenzy of activity, one at a time. The pattern continues, but with added emotional and romantic complications! Here's a word of advice: settle all outstanding disputes now, so that you have a clean slate for the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It is well-known that shopping is a perfect way to cheer yourself up. So, quite aside from profound long-term financial considerations, why don't you just go out and pick up a few bargains? And, how about buying something you always wanted, but never thought was really for you?

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The Moon's emotional presence in your chart reinforces your control of your personal plans today. You'll stamp your mark on family affairs no matter what younger relations may think! Of course, there'll always be people who are difficult to pin down, but you can do your best.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Jupiter and Saturn are a fine combination of planets. It just so happens that while one encourages you to take it easy, the other urges you on head-first. You may be musing over what is best for your long-term security, but it's doubtful whether there's any absolutely reliable answer - not yet, anyway.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
The business situation looks healthy, but you should be considering other things apart from money. For example, there is good reason to stretch yourself socially. Dance all night if you can! There's an additional interesting development, though: that an old friend is likely to get in touch.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Special conditions encourage everything that is best in your character. Your selfless behaviour should lead you in the right direction. When a loved one asks you for help, give it without hesitation. After all, they'll return the favour when the time comes.

Yesterday's Jumbles: DADDY SKIER POTATO GROUND
Answer: When the auto body shop repaired all the car's dings, he said — GOOD "RID-DENTS"

Bannerghatta police arrested two men, including a car driver, who kidnapped a three-year-old girl to demand ransom, and later abandoned the girl in a forest area. The incident happened a month ago. The accused Saravana (38) and his friend Prashanth (34) were nabbed in Chikkamagaluru. Bid to reduce traffic snarls during morning peak time from Sadahalli Gate to Hebbal Flyover

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TWO days after visiting the busy Hebbal flyover and Kempapura junction, Special Commissioner (Traffic) MA Saleem banned the movement of all types of goods vehicles for two hours, from 8.30am to 10.30am, from Sadahalli Gate to Hebbal flyover on Ballari Road, connecting Kempegowda International Airport in Devanahalli, starting Friday. The ban, on pilot basis, will be in effect till December 18.

Saleem visited the junction on Wednesday, accompanied by DCP (Traffic North) and other senior traffic officers. He observed the traffic congestion and had first-hand experience on the density of vehicles during peak morning and evening hours.

In order to reduce traffic snarls on busy NH7 (Ballari Road) from Sadahalli Gate to Hebbal flyover, he banned the movement of good vehicles for two hours during morning peak hours.

NH7 connecting Yelahanka, Doddaballapura, International Airport and Hyderabad has increased vehicular volume after the airport opened in 2008. Hebbal junction is one of the major intersections on the road connecting Outer Ring Road and Ballari Road. Traffic moves at snail's pace at the intersection during peak hours.

We'll find solutions to city's woes, promises CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai, while admitting to the problems plaguing Bengaluru, gave an assurance that his administration would hammer out solutions soon.

"Bengaluru is a preferred city. It has the highest tourist footfall, mobility, niche R&D and Fortune 500 companies. I agree there are problems, there are issues in other cities also. There are traffic problems and I assure of solutions in a few months. There will be solutions for all problems of Bengaluru soon," Bommai said.

He was speaking at the inaugural of the annual conference of South Indian Hotels and Restaurants Association, organised on behalf of the Tourism department on Friday.

Bommai said traffic density is a common issue as lakhs of people come here every day, and there is a rapid increase in the number of people working in the city. It has been decided to build five new cities in the state with all modern facilities, and will be called 'Nava Karnataka'.

This year, three new airports will be opened and three airports will be constructed next year. A new airstrip will also be built.

He said important tourist places will be developed and six ropeways, including at Anjanadri Hills and Jog Falls, are being constructed. He said Karnataka is a progressive and friendly-state and a good host in the tourism sector. Good hospitality will not only attract people but also create a good impression about the state. Karnataka will soon have two tourist circuits -- Hampi and Mysuru – and the one-ticket system will also be launched, he said. He sought a new tourism action plan, exclusive to each sector, like women and pilgrims. He asked all states and hotels to coordinate and create a chain network. On the demand for modification to GST and taxation, he said he would discuss it with the stakeholders and the Centre.

HC bins plea against film chamber poll

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court dismissed the petition filed by producer Sa Ra Govindu and two others, reserving liberty for them to approach the civil court for annulment of the election held in May this year to the Karnataka Film Chamber of Commerce (KFCC).

"The indirect effort made to submit that petitioners are not seeking an inquiry into the conduct of elections is neither here nor there, as elections are over, the Executive Committee is in place and the averments in the petition point at corrupt practice like large scale rigging and several other illegalities and irregularities in the conduct of elections... therefore, petitioners have to approach the competent civil court for appropriate relief," Justice M Nagaprasanna said, dismissing the petition questioning the order dated July 8, 2022, passed by the Deputy Registrar of Cooperative Societies and District Registrar of Societies. Justice Nagaprasanna observed that the court would not entertain the petition after elections are over, even for a direction to the district registrar to inquire into the conduct of elections. No fault can be found with the order of the district registrar declining to entertain the complainant, as it was in the realm of challenging elections, he said.

THREE engineering students landed in trouble for reportedly shouting pro-Pakistan slogans and recording it on their mobile phone during a college event on Thursday.

Of the three students, two shouted the slogans, while the other recorded it on his mobile phone, all the time exhorting them to shout the slogans. The video was then shared among their friends which later went viral. The students are identified as Aryan from Bengaluru, Riya Ravichandra from Davanagere and Dinakar from Andhra Pradesh. Aryan and Riya shouted the slogans, while Dinakar recorded it. "The incident happened during a cultural festival at the college on Thursday. All the three are first-year engineering students. They claimed that they shouted the slogans and recorded it for fun and there was no ulterior motive. The three are booked under IPC 153 (wantonly giving provocation with intent to cause riot). All the three were arrested and released on bail," S Girish, DCP (Whitefield division), said.

The engineering college is located in Marathahalli police limits. A large number of students had gathered for the event when the slogans were shouted. The students were also questioned by a few youth who had seen the video. They beat up Aryan, made him apologise and shout pro-Karnataka slogans. While apologising, he clarified that he had no intention of hurting anyone's sentiment and it was an act of sheer foolishness. The Marathahalli police, after going through the video, registered a case against the three students.

BBMP CHIEF, SPL COMMISSIONER DEFEND DELETING 6L VOTERS

'It was due to duplication; dist poll officers given 48 hrs to give report'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Special Commissioner, administration, S Rangappa, and Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath on Friday said the names of six lakh voters were deleted not because of political pressure, but due to duplication.

Girinath said the permission for Systematic Voters' Education and Electoral Participation (SVEEP) was given to the Chilume Educational, Cultural and Rural Development Organisation, an NGO, on October 28, while the process had started much earlier. "I don't think there is any link to Chilume in the deletion process. The matter, however, is being investigated by the police," he added.

Defending the State Election Commission and BBMP officials, Girinath and Rangappa said the rules were adhered to while revising the voter list.

Asked whether the BBMP succumbed to pressure before giving permission to Chilume, Girinath said, "The NGO was engaged in SVEEP from 2018 and based on its track record, it was allowed to conduct the exercise with certain conditions. It was also given the task of linking Aadhaar with voter IDs. But now, complaints have been filed against them. One complaint stated that it was sourcing private data. The police are now investigating allegations of private data collection and theft of voter information."

He said that all additional district election officers have been set a deadline of 48 hours to give a detailed report. Action will be taken if officials have a role in giving voter information to the NGO, he added.

Rangappa said Chilume and Lokesh, one of its representatives, created identity cards in the name of BLO without permission and went door-to-door collecting personal information of voters. This information was misused, he added.

"The BBMP probed the organisation and the report is ready. Once it is verified by the chief commissioner, it will be submitted to the State Election Commission," Rangappa said and added that no BBMP official has so far been arrested or suspended in this connection.

Rangappa said action will be taken against erring officials, once the investigation report comes in, including against ARO Chandrashekhar, he added.

Booth-level officers will be given new ID cards

To eliminate chances of confusion and anomalies in the collection and revision of voters' identification list, BBMP Special Commissioner, elections, Rangappa said that in the next two days, officials will be given special ID cards, which citizens can check and verify, before sharing details for the voters' list. These cards will also be given to booth-level officers, which will have a separate logo and a number, he said. Staffers assigned to collect and verify details are local people from the neighbourhood (appointed by the BBMP), government school teachers and government officials, he added. "Every citizen must ask for the ID proof of those who come to collect details. They can call up the ward or zonal BBMP office to cross-verify the details of the person," he said.

68 names go missing from RT Nagar wards

Bengaluru: Sixty-eight names have reportedly gone missing from the voters' list close to the CM's residence in RT Nagar. After BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath claimed that six lakh-plus voters were deleted from the revised voters' list earlier this month, 68 voters from Rehmath Nagar and Mathadahalli in RT Nagar alleged that their names were deleted and no officials had come for any 'survey'. Mohammed Imran, a retired person from Rehmath Nagar, just 100 metres from RT Nagar, said, "I voted last time and now my name is deleted from the list." Imtiyaz K, 30, who runs a welding shop, said, "I never missed voting and now due to the officials' mistake, my name has been deleted."

GIVE ONE MORE CHANCE TO JDS IN 2023: GOWDA

V VELAYUDHAM @ Mulbagal

IN the 2023 assembly elections, give an opportunity to JDS to undertake an overall development of Karnataka, appealed former Prime Minister HD Deve Gowda.

While addressing a Pancharatna Rathayatra programme in Mulbagal, he said, "When Kumaraswamy was the chief minister, he floated several developmental programmes for Karnataka, especially for farmers. On the same lines, he will promote several more programmes if JDS comes to power."

Deve Gowda claimed that people are upset with the BJP and Congress, and wants a change, which JDS can offer. Coming down heavily on BJP and Congress, former Chief Minister HD Kumaraswamy said that as the parties have failed to protect the interest of the people.

Lashing out at opposition leader Siddaramaiah for criticising JDS' yatra during his recent visit to Kolar, Kumaraswamy said during his tenure as chief minister, farmers from Kolar and Chikkaballapur had taken out a procession to Bengaluru, which he stopped and the farmers were thrashed by police, he said.

The party will fulfill the promises made in the election manifesto by providing health, education, and other development if elected as chief minister with a majority, he said, adding that he has assured Deve Gowda that he will tour the entire state to highlight the party's programme.

Like BJP and Congress, the JDS is not battling with percentage commission allegations, he said.

Speaking on Ettinahole, Kumaraswamy said, "So far, they have spent Rs 13,000 crore for the project. Now, they are saying that another Rs 24,000 crore is required to complete the project."

JDS state president CM Ibrahim said, "Only Kumaraswamy can give a good administration."

All the candidates said that the party gearing up for polls is ready with 100 candidates' first list that was supposed to be released on Friday.₹ "Amid us, we have an astrologer, whose suggestions we cannot overrule. The astrologer is HD Revanna," he said. Kumaraswamy said that an auspicious moment will be finalised for the release of the list by former Prime Minister HD Deve Gowda at the party office.

JDS plans to blow poll bugle from Mysuru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

KICKSTARTING their Pancharathna yatra with a target of winning 123 in the upcoming assembly elections, JDS has also planned a mega rally to begin their poll campaign from Mysuru.

Fomer Chief Minister HD Kumaraswamy told media persons on Friday that the pancharathna yatra will conclude in Mysuru, where around 15 lakh people including farmers will participate in the rally to be held in the Chamundeshwari constituency.

They are also looking for a suitable place to accommodate lakhs of people between Mysuru and Mandya in February, he said.

National parties have let down the people by failing to protect he interest of the state through projects like Mekedatu when more than 450 tmc ft of water has flown to riparian state as against allocation of 170 tmcft. The state government which announced that the Upper Badra project will be given a national project status, has failed to keep the promise, he said.

SOURCES said depending on responses to notices issued by the RC, it should take one month for the IAS officer to submit the report. Meanwhile, based on the complaints, Bengaluru police are separately investigating the alleged irregularities by the private firm.

Political slugfest on

The political slugfest over the issue continued on Friday. A delegation of senior Congress leaders consisting of KPCC chief DK Shivakumar, Opposition leader Siddaramaiah and other senior leaders have decided to meet the Election Commission officers on Saturday to demand a probe by a judge of the Karnataka HC. "It is a serious crime, and not an issue that can be probed by the Regional Commissioner," Shivakumar said.

The Congress leader alleged that the names of 26 lakh voters were deleted and 14 lakh names were added. "They have deleted the names of voters who will not vote for them. Our workers have to be very cautious," he said.

Shivakumar said they are gathering information about people working for the private firm, who had allegedly collected money from leaders promising them to ensure their victory from the wards.

He accused the CM and the ministers of protecting the private firm officials. "The government resorted to such measures due to fear of losing elections. FIRs should be filed against those involved," he said. Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said the Opposition leaders are making allegations out of desperation. Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said Congress is trying to mislead people through false allegations. Municipal corporations engage NGOs through the Election Commission for various electoral roll-related works, which are carried out as per law, he said.

Siddaramaiah says will contest from one seat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

PUTTING an end to speculation on Friday, opposition leader Sidddaramaiah said he will contest from one constituency in the 2023 Assembly elections, instead of two.

Although supporters and leaders from many constituencies have invited him to contest from various seats, the AHINDA leader has shortlisted Kolar, Varuna and Badami constituencies, while the final announcement will come after consultation with the party high command. Asked if a survey has predicted a defeat, Siddaramaiah retorted, "What's wrong in conducting a survey?"

"Neither I nor my party has done the survey," he said.

Accusing the BJP-led state government of indulging in theft of voters' data through a private company, which was authorised by the BBMP Chief Commissioner, he said that the Congress will stage a protest in front of the Election Commission office.

"CM Basavaraj Bommai, who is also the Bengaluru Development Minister, is aware of the fraudulent activities. Instead of inviting competitive bids, they authorized Chalume firm and Hombale company. Will they do it without profit motive," he asked.

He also alleged that names of people from minorities, Dalits, and Backward Communities are being deleted.

Terming the voter ID theft incident as a continuation of Operation Lotus, he said the corrupt BJP government will stoop to any level to come to power. "It's Santosh Lad's opinion and will be taken into consideration," Siddaramaiah said when asked about Lad's suggestion that neither he nor KPCC president DK Shivakumar should contest elections.

Siddu, DKS should campaign, not contest: Ex-min

Hubballi: While supporters of CLP leader Siddaramaiah and KPCC president DK Shivakumar are trying to project the respective leaders as the chief ministerial candidate, former minister Santosh Lad suggested that both the leaders should refrain from contesting and ensure the party's victory by campaigning. Clarifying that it is his personal opinion, he said on Friday, "Siddaramaiah will win from anywhere in the state. But, if he travels across the state, it will be more beneficial. If they contest, they will be restricted to their constituency. Instead, their influence among the voters should be used by deploying them in the campaigning."

Panchamasalis gear up for stir in Bengaluru

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

"JAI Panchamasali", the greeting that asserts the Panchamasali identity, does not sound sweet to BJP anymore. The Lingayat sub-sect, which was not so well identified and organised, is holding preparatory meetings in many districts of north Karnataka ahead of a mega-showdown in Bengaluru on December 12. Panchamsalis are demanding reservation under Backward 2 A category.

As the numbers could be upwards of 20 lakh, community leaders are thinking of finding a bigger venue than the Bengaluru Palace Grounds for the protest. Panchamsali pontiff Basava Jaya Mruthyunjaya Swami convened preparatory meetings on Friday to motivate supporters from Belagavi, Raichur, Koppal and Vijayapura.

The community is holding the protest ahead of the Assembly elections, where it will be the deciding factor in 40 seats.

Political analyst BS Murthy said, "Key Lingayat leaders may be leaning towards Congress and it has given rise to suspicion that it is carefully engineered. One should not ignore the shadow of Yediyurappa in these movements. UB Banakar recently quit all posts in BJP and is keen to join Congress and contest from Hirekerur. VL Patil from Yellapur too is eyeing a Congress ticket. Raju Kage is already on board. Yediyurappa's silence over the issue has given rise to suspicion that some leaders may have his blessings."

Most of the constituencies where Panchamasalis are in large numbers are dominated by Lingayat leaders from other sub-sects leading to complaints from the former over being left out, which will not help BJP in the polls.

Cong mocks BJP bid to woo weavers

ENS @ Bengaluru:

WITH BJP going all out to organise weavers ahead of Assembly elections, Congress mocked the effort on social media. Congress national general secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala on Friday tweeted, "Promised to institute 'Devaradasimayya Nidhi' and earmarking Rs 1,000 crore towards the welfare of the weavers. Weavers asking you #NimHatraIdyaUttara #SayCM."

Former MLC MD Lakshminarayan, who made a 'ghar wapsi' to BJP, has started organising weavers, and has held conventions at Kollegal and Tumakuru. In Kollegal, it may help incumbent MLA N Mahesh and in Tumakuru, JDS hopeful N Govindaraju.

In the 2018 assembly polls, out of 58 seats where the weaver vote is a big factor, the Congress won 30 constituencies, BJP 23, JDS 4 and BSP 1. Belagavi South and Terdal, that have over 50,000 weaver votes, were won by the BJP, whereas Jamkhandi and Badami, where there are over 20,000 voters, were won by the Congress.

In 2023, BJP is looking to grab more seats, while Congress is set to counter it.

Lakshminarayan, president of the weaver community federation, told TNIE that he will meet Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai next week and press for the same.

WITH QUOTA UP, PROMOTIONS IN GOVT DEPTS BEING REWORKED

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Secretary Vandita Sharma on Friday sent out a letter, instructing all department heads not to convene department promotions committee meetings till roster issues, which have cropped up because of the increase in reservation from 18 to 24 per cent, are fixed.

The state has 6 lakh government posts, of which around 2 lakh are vacant. Promotions have to be reworked as the government recently increased the reservation for Scheduled Castes from 15 to 17 per cent and Scheduled Tribes from 3 to 7 per cent.

Vandita Sharma, in her letter, asked all additional chief secretaries and principal secretaries not to call for promotions committee meetings till the roster point weightage decision is finalised by the government.

Two senior retired officials – one of the joint secretary rank and the other of the deputy secretary rank -- have been entrusted with the responsibility of examining the weightage system, which was in operation for the last 44 years.

Two officers, who prefer to remain anonymous, have already started the process, while some say it could take five to six months. Once the new government comes to power after the Assembly elections, the issue will be addressed depending on the priorities of the new dispensation, the source said.

Experts said until this issue is settled, there will be no promotions in any department, board, corporation, university or wherever the rules apply.

Officials, who are on the verge of retirement and are due for promotion in November or December or in the early part of 2023, have been complaining that they would retire with the same positions without promotion, unless the process is expedited, the sources added.

25-storeyed twin tower to house most govt offices, tender by Dec

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

THE state government is all set to call for global tenders to build the prestigious twin tower that is expected to house most of the offices of state and central governments in Bengaluru. Each tower will have 25 floors.

Now, government offices are scattered at different places, including the Multi-storeyed Building next to Vikas Soudha, BMTC terminus at Shanthinagar, Kendriya Sadan in Koramangala, VV Towers, a few more near Anand Rao Circle flyover and other places. To accommodate a majority of these offices at a single place, the twin tower was planned in 2020 when BS Yediyurappa was chief minister. The cabinet too had approved the project.

It is expected to come up on 8.5 acres near the Anand Rao Circle flyover at an estimated cost of Rs 1,250 crore. The plan is to connect the building to the nearby Kempegowda Metro Station with a pathway to Vidhana Soudha via Race Course. It will be taken up under the PPP model and is likely to be completed in 30 months.

PWD Minister CC Patil told TNIE, "CM Basavaraj Bommai has given the approval to call for expression of interest and once done, global tenders will be invited by December-end or early-January." PWD sources said the proposal had been pending for a long time. "We have already shifted existing departments, including health, from old buildings that are next to the Anand Rao Circle flyover to allow the twin tower work to start. We hope that the work will begin before March next year," sources said.

Proposed facilities

- 25 floors in each tower
- 25 meeting halls
- Sky-walks to connect Vidhana Soudha/Vikas Soudha and also the Kempegowda bus and Metro terminus
- Proposed to accommodate 60 per cent of the government offices

Historic: Nation's first privately-built rocket Vikram-S launched

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

INDIA saw the historic launch of the first-ever privately developed and built rocket — Vikram-S — as part of aerospace startup Skyroot Aerospace's mission 'Prarambh'.

The sub-orbital rocket was launched at 11.30 am on Friday from the Satish Dhawan Space Centre in Sriharikota, Andhra Pradesh. "Today is a historic day, which marks the beginning of a new dawn – a new 'Prarambh' in the journey of India's Space sector. It is a major step forward by India to developing its space ecosystem and to emerge as the leader in new space frontiers. This is indeed a turning point in India's start up moment," said Dr Jitendra Singh, Union Minister of Science & Technology and Space.

The 6-m tall Vikram-S, a single-stage solid fuelled, sub-orbital rocket, was developed over the course of two years and was carrying three customer payloads in its maiden flight. The launcher hit a peak altitude of 89.5 km in only 155 seconds, achieving its goal.

The rocket's launch is the first in Skyroot's Prarambh mission, which was unveiled by ISRO chairman Dr S Somanath. The rocket was also the first to get authorisation for launch by the Indian National Space Promotion and Authorisation Center (IN-SPACe). "India holds tremendous potential in space and has been an enabler of epoch-making space missions for decades. This maiden rocket launch for Skyroot Aerospace is perhaps the most important milestone for the Indian private space sector since the space reforms announced by Government of India and hints at the rapid transformative journey we're witnessing in India's space sector. Though one small step, it is a giant leap to demonstrate the capabilities of the Indian Space sector," said Dr Pawan K Goenka, IN-SPACe chairman.

In a joint statement, Skyroot founders stated that the mission itself is dedicated to the private space sector currently developing in India. "We are very excited to share that we scripted history today by successfully launching India's first privately developed rocket Vikram-S. This mission has been executed in record time only because of the invaluable support we received from IN-SPACe and ISRO, and the technology talent that we inherently possess. Our path-breaking mission, Prarambh is dedicated to the Indian private sector, which has hugely benefitted from the reforms that were guided by the Government of India and its vision," they said.

Skyroot opens new chapter in pvt space industry

HYDERABAD: Once a small start up without much name with hardly 10 members working in it has now opened a new chapter in the private space industry by launching the first private in the country. Started in small set up in Kondapur in 2018 with a team of 10, Skyroot is now on a mission to open space for all, by pushing the boundaries of today's technology. Defence Minister Rajnath Singh speaks at the 30th convocation of MAHE, in Manipal, Udupi district, on Friday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

DEFENCE Minister Rajnath Singh said that India does not provoke any country, but it will not spare anyone who tries to disturb its unity and integrity.

Singh was speaking at the 30th convocation of MAHE, Manipal, in Udupi on Friday.

On the country's economy, Rajnath said that India is poised to become the 'number one' economy by 2047, and find its name in the list of world's top three economies in the next five years.

He urged the youth to continue to innovate, develop new technologies and set up research establishments and start-up ventures across the country to realise Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision of a self-reliant New India.

Rajnath said that students should inculcate an attitude to make India a strong nation. He asserted that the global powers are acknowledging the capacity of India's young ignited minds, as major companies like Google, Microsoft, Adobe and IBM are hiring Indians for top positions. "If Indians can help major firms grow across the globe, why can not we think of setting up top companies back home?" the Defense Minister pointed out, calling upon the graduating students to introspect and bring a paradigm change in the nation.

Prime Minister Modi is now heard with attention and seriousness on international platforms by global leaders as India is now leading the world on issues like terrorism and has been successful in garnering support to root out the menace of terrorism, Rajnath said.

The countries that nurture and support terrorism are now aware of India's ability of giving them an answer, he added.

Describing the present era as knowledge-intensive and constantly-evolving, the minister stressed on the need for upgrading the quality and quantity of human capital, which he said plays a major role in the nation's development. Technological capabilities and innovative approach of the young generation is the most decisive factor in taking the nation forward, he said. "Before 2014, there were only about 400 to 500 startups. Today, the number has crossed 70,000. Of these, over 100 have become Unicorns," he added.

Model gangraped in moving car, 4 held

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kochi

THE Ernakulam South police on Friday took four youths, including a woman, into custody in connection with the gangrape of a 19-year-old model inside a moving car in Kochi on Thursday night. The survivor was in an inebriated state when she was assaulted. A police official said the three men hail from Kodungalloor while the woman, the survivor's friend, is from Rajasthan. "They are being interrogated. Their details will be revealed once the arrest is recorded," said the official.

"The girl was raped by the men with the woman's help. The vehicle in which she was assaulted has been seized," said city police commissioner CH Nagaraju. A police official said the survivor had arrived at a pub in Ravipuram around 8.30pm on Thursday with her friend. "She consumed liquor and fell unconscious around 10pm. The youths, who were in the pub and apparently knew the girl's friend, took the survivor to their car saying they will drop her off at her place in Kakkanad. The other woman left. The youths then raped the girl while roaming around the city in the car. They dropped her at Kakkanad late in the night," said the official.

The incident came to light on Friday when the survivor lodged a complaint. A police team searched the bar and found that the address given by the youths was fake. They traced the girl's friend who revealed the whereabouts of the youths.

Meanwhile, the survivor was admitted to a private hospital in the city and was later shifted to the Kalamassery Medical College Hospital.

In its notice sent to the party office at Malleswaram in Bengaluru, Investigating Officer B Gangadhar directed Santosh to bring along the mobile phone that the accused contacted him on.

In the last two days, the SIT has summoned Tushar Vellappally, Jaggu Swami, B Srinivas and BL Santosh for questioning.

Link Godavari, Cauvery after completing Mahanadi-Godavari: TS to water body

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

TELANGANA Engineer-in-Chief C Muralidhar on Friday urged the National Water Development Agency (NWDA) to take up Godavari-Cauvery link project only after the completion of Mahanadi-Godavari link.

In a letter to the NWDA, Muralidhar said: "There is no surplus water available at 75 per cent dependability, as ascertained by CWC/NWDA for Godvari-Cauvery link proposal, the Godavari (SMPP-Inchampalli) and Krishna (Pulichintala) link proposal of NWDA being from same source also cannot be taken up. The proposal be considered only after the completion of at least the active construction of Mahanadi-Godavari link of ILR project in due course".

The Telangana officials pointed out that the erstwhile AP proposed a dam at Inchampalli for utilisation of Godavari waters in Telangana region. "But, Maharashtra and Chhattisgarh objected to the proposed due to submergence issues in their States. Since the location is very close to inter-state border with Chhattisgarh, it may again lead to objections from that State. The Sammakka Sagar barrage already constructed is located at just 24 km downstream of Inchampalli barrage site. One more barrage nearby causes difficulties in routing the flood as the lag time is very less between these reservoirs," they said.

The downstream utilisations from the proposed site in Telangana are 158 tmcft may get affected, sources said.

COP27 NEEDS TO FUND MITIGATION, PUT COST ON BURNING FOSSIL FUEL

The 27th annual Conference of the Parties (COP27), comprising countries that are party to the 1992 UN climate agreement, has concluded after a year of record-breaking temperatures and widespread natural disasters. The draft agreement does not reflect the urgency demanded by UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres who said at the opening session: "We are on a highway to climate hell with our foot still on the accelerator." The countries have remained as divided over critical issues as ever before. Disappointed by the draft statement, environmental activists hope the final political agreement will be much better than the draft.

Countries continue to pull in different directions over handling of key issues. On the one hand, the demand by India and Europe to phase down fossil fuels has not been accepted. On the other, the European Union's proposal to impose a carbon border tax on carbon-intensive products such as steel and cement has been opposed by the BASIC countries—Brazil, South Africa, India and China, as being discriminatory and unilateral. Financing the climate change fight remains the biggest challenge. The draft has failed to reflect a firm commitment on this front.

The 2015 Paris Agreement's resolve to tackle rising temperatures seems to have made little headway, and the developed countries have failed to honour their commitment to start contributing $100 billion annually for mitigation and support. The commitment was made in 2009 to reach the $100 billion level by 2020. The deadline was extended to 2023. As per the UN's Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change, global temperatures have risen by 1.1 degree centigrade. Scientists say the world is heading towards a 1.5 degree centigrade rise over the pre-industrial 1850 levels. If it goes beyond that and breaches 1.7 degrees, almost half of the world's population will find the temperature too hot to bear. Burning gas, oil and coal is the main contributor to the climate crisis. Putting a cost on burning these fossil fuels and providing funds to compensate the sufferers is the priority. The final political agreement needs to establish a clear framework for funding. It would be imperative for the leaders to heed Guterres' words: "Greenhouse gas emissions keep growing, global temperatures keep rising, and our planet is fast approaching tipping points that will make climate chaos irreversible."

IMPORT SWAP AND VYING EXPORTS, TWO TO TANGO

India's exports and imports fell in October, but the trade deficit widened, with exports contracting sharply by 16.6%—the weakest print since March 2021. Worryingly, the export contraction was broad-based, with almost all principal export items declining, while import growth moderated only in half of the 30 chief items. In effect, the merchandise trade deficit stood at $27 billion, taking the cumulative total to $173 billion as against $94 billion last year. It's no secret that the trade deficit has been ballooning in recent months amid elevated commodity prices and a slowing global economy. All bets are now on declining global commodity prices, especially oil, to lighten the import bill and shrink the deficit. Although cumulative numbers are yet to deviate significantly from the annual target, it's feared that CAD will breach 3.5% of GDP this fiscal. However, some believe the concerns are unfounded. In Q1, CAD was expected to breach 3.8% of GDP but settled at 2.8%, thanks to countercyclical buffers via service exports and remittances. If the trend continues, CAD might as well stay below the 3% finish line this fiscal.

If the rising goods trade deficit is flashing danger signs for CAD, services trade that reached an all-time high in September is the brightest bulb in the box. Crucially, software exports have been rising, with the share of offsite exports touching 88.8% in FY22 from 82.8% five years ago. A weakening rupee is also helping, as software exports are estimated to increase by $250 million for every rupee depreciation. If the exchange rate pass-through is pegged at 10% for CAD, inflation and growth, it's significantly stronger at 35% for software exports. In other words, as SBI research noted, the negative impact of oil price shock on CAD, inflation and growth gets neutralised by software exports, bumped up by rupee depreciation.

That said, calls for import substitution rise each time exports dip. In fact, in the 2022 Budget alone, the government raised tariffs on 1,243 items accounting for 16% of imports, which are yet to yield. Thanks to globalisation, supply chains, and the WTO, the nature of trade has changed so dramatically that exports are simply unthinkable without imports. It means, more than tariff barriers, we need a long-term strategy, with the government devoting energy to measures like the Production Linked Incentives to boost domestic capacities, which in turn help export competitiveness.

QUICK TAKE

QUESTION OF DIGITAL SEIZURE

The government must provide a legal framework for seizing electronic devices like mobiles and laptops during arrests. The Supreme Court recently imposed costs on the Centre seeking the guidelines following a petition by a group of academics. The devices have implications for their owners' right to privacy, right against self-incrimination, protection of privileged information and preventing post facto tampering. The search and seizure rules must include the method for examining, preserving and returning them. In their absence, probe agencies and courts are confused about the legality of acquiring passwords from the accused or violating any rights by seeking personal biometrics.

Even though the physical infrastructure of the connection was dismantled during colonial rule, the emotional bonds remained alive in the hearts and minds of the people

THE AGELESS BOND OF KASHI AND TAMILAGAM

R N RAVI
Governor of Tamil Nadu

SOUMYADIP SINHA

The Constitution of India introduces our country by name as Bharat, the name by which she has been known since the beginning of our history. This is how ancient Indian works of literature refer to her. This is how she is invoked in traditional day to day rites and rituals. Bharat, as the Mother, was the rallying point for the National Freedom Movement.

The western notion of a state created by a sovereign ruler, often by force, fails to comprehend Bharat, which has been a civilisational evolution, catalysed and organically shaped by a shared cultural spirituality. Rishis, Siddhars, Yogis, poets and social reformers have shaped this evolution. Kings of yore liberally patronised it as their duty.

In the long evolutionary journey of Bharat, Tamilagam (the land of Tamil-speaking people) has played a crucial role. It is here that the physical manifestation of Bharat, North of the Ocean, begins.

Several thousand people travelled every year both ways between Kasi and Rameswaram until the British dismantled the unbroken chain of centuries-old infrastructure built in between for their rest and recuperation.

The letter dated January 20, 1801 of Serfoji Maharaj, the last ruler of Tanjore, to British Resident Benjamin Torin who had taken control, pleading for not disturbing or dismantling the chain of Chattrams (Dharmashalas) between Kasi and Rameswaram where several thousand pilgrims, travellers and traders were provided three free meals a day and medical care, bears a heart-wrenching testimony to it.

Kasi had had such a deep influence over Tamilagam that her kings patronised Kasi so much so that when it came under severe existential threats during invasions from Central Asia and the near-West, they built a large number of Kasi Viswanatha temples in various parts of Tamilagam. Parakrama Pandya, a Pandya king, even built a replica of Kasi called Tenkasi (Kasi of the South). Villages in Tamilagam have Kasi Viswanatha temples.

Fifteenth century great saint Mahapurush Sankardev of Kamrup (Assam) studied at Rameswaram and Kanchi and later came to Kasi for further studies. After studying at these places, he returned to Assam, established a chain of Vaishnavite monasteries called 'Shattra' in the Brahmaputra valley and composed a beautiful poem in praise of Bharat—'Dhanya Dhanya Bharat Bhoomi'. In the 17th century, Swamy Kumaragurupara Desikar of Dharmapuram Adheenam, a great Saivaite institution in the present-day Mayiladuthurai district of Tamil Nadu, came to Kasi and built the Lord Kedareshwar temple at the Kedar Ghat on the banks of Ganga. Later, his disciples built a Kasi Viswanatha Temple at Thiruppanandal near Kumbakonam in Thanjavur district on the banks of Cauvery, another holy river of Bharat.

Kodaganallur Sundarar Swamigal, the guru of Dr Sundara Perumal Pillai, popularly known as Manonmaniam Sundaranar, the author of 'Tamil Thai Vaazhthu', the state song of Tamil Nadu, spent a good part of his life at Manikarnika Ghat in Kasi. Kasi had a deep influence on Manonmaniam Sundaranar, who is believed to have taught Saiva Siddhanta to Swami Vivekanand.

In the late 19th and early 20th century, Mahakavi Subramania Bharati, the revolutionary poet of the National Freedom Movement and an ardent devotee of Bharat Mata, came to Kasi for studies.

He was so deeply influenced by the intellectual and spiritual serenity and vibrancy of the place that he paid an emotional tribute to Kasi with a beautiful poem. Mahakavi's grandnephew and their family, even today, live in Kasi near Hanuman Ghat. In fact, Kasi is home to a number of Tamil families.

Kasi and Kanchi were also two great centres of astronomical studies and research. There are pieces of evidence of the two institutions regularly sharing their knowledge.

British astronomers, including Barker, Pearse, Campbell and John Playfair, who visited observatories at Kasi and Kanchi for research between 1770 and 1780, have expressed their amazement at the mathematical genius and astronomical findings at these places.

Kasi and Kanchi had a long connection also through trade in their unique silk products—the world famous Kanchivaram and Banarasi sarees. Evidence abounds, showing a multi-faceted, deep, almost umbilical relation between Kasi and Tamilagam. A rich history destroyed during colonial rule is waiting to be rediscovered.

Even though the physical infrastructure of the connection between the two was dismantled during colonial rule, the emotional bonds remained alive in the hearts and minds of the people under the bold and visionary leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who has a deep and intimate understanding of Bharat, which is being rejuvenated.

His abiding love for the Tamil language and setting up a Subramania Bharati Chair in the Banaras Hindu University for its promotion and propagation as well as imaginatively inspiring patronage to the forthcoming Kasi Tamil Sangamam, a month-long festival from mid-November for celebrating the age-old connection between the two, are testimonies to his deep commitment to 'Ek Bharat – Shreshtha Bharat' (Ore Bharatham, Unnatha Bharatham).

KASHI TAMIL SANGAMAM AND DVADASHA DARSHAN

The Indian Council for Research on International Economic Relations in an early 2000 report, highlighted the power of India's civilisational propensity. It noted that the world's largest temple was in Cambodia and that there was still a Sanskrit-speaking village in Vietnam. Strong roots of Indic civilisation were significantly present in Indonesia, which also had a university named after Guru Sandipani.

The report marvelled at the civilisational strength of India and its capacity to gain a global footprint using its dominant soft power and not its strong military power. This civilisational strength of Bharat is unique for its continuum, which is unparalleled.

Such a civilisational strength driven through cultural unity is the focal tune of Kashi Tamil Sangamam (KTS) which resonates with Bharat's Bhaava, Raaga and Taala. KTS is a multi-dimensional connection between two spiritual-cultural twins of Bharat—Kashi and Tamil Nadu.

Kashi Tamil Sangamam, Prime Minister Narendra Modi's honest and unique efforts to celebrate the civilisational coherent synergy between Kashi and Tamil Nadu, is being launched today.

It will continue to enlighten and entertain lakhs of visitors to Kashi as KTS has in store a recipe for a cultural fiesta. Twelve groups from Tamil Nadu shall be visiting Kashi over a month-long period starting today in batches of 250 each in special trains to get an immersive Ganga bath and an immersive Kashi experience and to showcase Tamil Nadu's historical and eternal proximity to Kashi.

It is these proximal maxima that will be highlighted to the visiting groups of students, teachers, artisans, rural champions, professionals, businesspersons, entrepreneurs, literature lovers, spiritualists, heritage activists, and cultural and temple enthusiasts.

The range of activities include specially curated academic sessions that shall see scholars and experts from Tamil Nadu flown into Kashi to share their inputs with Kashi counterparts on various topics of mutual interest, cultural shows driven by various arts forms of Tamil Nadu, special exhibitions decorated by the Kashi-Tamil Nadu artisan collective, Ganga cruise and Ganga Aarti and, most importantly, the Tamil Nadu cuisine that shall hopefully include my favourite Kashi Halwa!

The sum total of the visitors' experiential outcome will undoubtedly be etched into the hearts of all for endured periods of time and passed on to present and successive generations. Special competitive events are also planned for the returning students and teachers who shall demonstrate in various tangible forms the impactful outcome of KTS.

The visiting Tamilians shall visualise the connection between Kashi and Tamil Nadu as they explore the Kashi terrains through KTS' contours. Roaming the streets of Kashi, reminiscing about Mahakavi Subramania Bharati, testing their artistic flavour at the weavers' museum, relishing the poetic literary flow along with the divine water flow of Ganges, expanding their business and entrepreneurial minds, internalising their connect with the divine powers at serene Saivism spots, cerebrating the power of India's Knowledge System, celebrating the cultural entertainment and tasting the Tamil Nadu-centric cuisine that shall be an epicurean's delight, KTS is one type of event that manifests in many continuous forms.

> The authenticity of Kashi Tamil Sangamam will, in its own way, present with accurate certainty the historical connection between Kashi and Tamil Nadu, which is definitely a foundational pillar of Bharat's past. Such pillars will emerge as the safe bed for the aspirational superpower Bharat

The continuity of experience in this eight-day trip is a historical capsule of the civilisational continuity between Kashi and Tamil Nadu.

The relevance of such events in the modern context is extremely important.

While researchers spend resources to understand the future of India, there also needs to be an equal effort to understand its past. With its present geopolitical strength recently nourished by its G-20 presidency, a growing superpower like India cannot afford to leave its past uncertain. The uncertainty in India's past cannot be porous to leaky outflow and distorted inflow and needs to be sealed with authentic information.

The authenticity of KTS will, in its own way, present with accurate certainty the historical connection between Kashi and Tamil Nadu, which is definitely a foundational pillar of Bharat's past. Such foundational pillars will emerge as the safe bed for the aspirational superpower Bharat. A super-structure built on such an unshakeable past is India's answer to not only itself but also to the world as it stands tall amongst the comity of nations with its undated and undateable civilisational past driven by its Sanathan Dharma.

KTS is just the tip of an iceberg that shall create an avalanche of sorts and is truly a defining moment in the socio-cultural march of Bharat's supremacy. As the avalanche starts rolling down with the curtains for KTS rising today, the next month shall be a teaser of sorts for the main storylines that shall abundantly follow, catering to the multiple appetites of various interest groups.

If history records an event that celebrates and cerebrates the unifying power of historical geographies, Kashi Tamil Sangamam shall undisputedly find its rightful place as a genuine and unique effort to showcase and record the voluminous and varying multi-dimensional enrichers. As history is being created at Kashi, this twelve-dimensional avatar of Bharat's civilisational prowess is the most defining moment that strengthens the past, present and future in various directions. In short: Kashi Tamil Sangamam is Kashi's Dvadasha Darshan.

The real picture

Apropos of Ukraine picture: The writing is on the wall (Nov 18). I found this useful and realistic. There are several media platforms covering the ongoing conflict but between the fancy headlines and some propaganda, relevant information is missing, including about Russia's slow war strategy, absence of battle groups, etc.

Kachchatheevu gambit

Apropos of Retrieval of Kachchatheevu unwise and impractical (Nov 18). Whenever Tamil politicians raise the issue of "recovering" Kachchatheevu, it reminds me of T S Eliot's lines: It is like "a madman shaking a dead geranium". They have to do it as they have no other worthy cause. They tend to forget that this disturbs the fragile relations with a neighbour.

Ceding Kachchatheevu

The columnist has written well about how the Indira Gandhi government ceded Kachchatheevu. As he has rightly pointed out, the then Tamil Nadu Chief Minister Karunanidhi did not oppose the move due to political considerations. The spirit and gut in the West Bengal situation is not seen in Tamil Nadu. The issue is only taken up when elections are around the corner.

Kerala's economic safety net

The editorial, Kerala economy grows, still has woes (Nov 18), has analysed in detail and rightly emphasised on the urgent need for the government to streamline the bloated staff structure and reduce unnecessary costs of the loss-making KSEB and KSRTC. Despite such setbacks, Kerala's economy is growing due to the continuous inflow of NRI remittances, leading to a rise in state GDP.

Ghastly Chennai floods

While our forefathers selected houses according to their purpose, houses today are constructed where real estate people come up with layouts. Unauthorised plots in low-lying areas become regularised. Inner and outer ring roads in residential colonies are blocking the outflow without proper culverts. This has led to flooding in Chennai during the rains.

Legislative & intel steps curbed terror: Shah

'Enhancing NIA's powers and giving a new direction to financial intelligence strengthened fight against terrorism'

CHANDAN NANDY @ New Delhi

RECOGNISING that the "problem" of terror financing has become "widespread", Union Home Minister Amit Shah said on Friday that a strong legislative and technological and comprehensive monitoring frameworks and a mechanism for actionable intelligence sharing helped India crack down on the phenomenon.

Chairing the first session of the third 'No Money for Terror' ministerial conference, Shah said that strengthening the investigation and police operations, the provision for confiscation of property, preventing the misuse of legal entities and new technologies and international cooperation and coordination had also helped thwart terror financing.

Claiming that amending the Unlawful Activities Prevention Act (UAPA), enhancing the NIA's powers and "giving a new direction to financial intelligence" had strengthened India's fight against terrorism, Shah said these measures have contributed to the drastic reduction in incidents and economic losses.

Home Minister Amit Shah at the 'No Money for Terror' ministerial conference in New Delhi on Friday | PIB

Shah said while terrorism was, undoubtedly, the most serious threat to global peace and security, its financing was more dangerous as the 'means and methods' were nurtured by such funding. Besides, he said, the financing of terrorism weakens the economies of the world. The session's theme was on 'Global Trends in Terrorist Financing and Terrorism'.

Pointing out that India condemns terrorism in all its forms and manifestations, Shah said that no reason can justify taking innocent lives. Expressing his sympathy for terror attack victims across the world, Shah said no compromise could be made with this evil.

Holding that India has been a victim of cross-border terrorism for several decades, Shah said that Indian security forces and civilians have had to deal with terrorist violence perpetrated and sustained in a coordinated manner. Even as the international community's collective approach condemns terrorism in all its forms, the forms and manifestations of terrorism were continuously evolving due to technological revolution, Shah said.

According to Shah, terrorists and terror groups understand the nuances of modern weapons and information technology, besides the dynamics of cyber and financial space which they use very well. This transformation of terrorism from "Dynamite to Metaverse" and "AK-47 to Virtual Assets", Shah said, was definitely a matter of global concern and for which a common strategy needed to be formulated. However, Shah said that the terror threat "cannot and should not be linked to any religion, nationality or group".

> Financing of terrorism is more dangerous than terrorism, the threat of which cannot and should not be linked to any religion, nationality or group
> Amit Shah, Union Home Minister

Maintaining that India has made significant progress in fortifying the security architecture, besides the legal and financial systems", Shah said terrorists were yet constantly finding new ways to carry out violence, radicalise the youth and raise funding.

Disclosing that the 'Dark Net' was being used by terrorists to disseminate radical content by concealing their identities, the home minister said there was an increase in the use of virtual assets like cryptocurrency. There was a need to understand the patterns on such Dark Net activities and find solutions, he said. Emphasising that some countries were seeking to undermine and hinder India's collective resolve to fight terror, Shah said that these states protect and shelter terrorists which was no less than promoting terrorism. He said that member states' collective responsibility should ensure "such elements never succeed in their intentions".

Indicating that the regime change in Afghanistan in August 2021 had caused the "growing influence of Al Qaeda and ISIS" which have emerged as a significant challenge to regional security, Shah said that the "new equations have made the problem of terror financing more serious".

India rebukes Pak for raising Kashmir

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA has rebuked Pakistan for raking up the issue of Kashmir in the United Nations General Assembly.

"Pakistan's desperate attempts to peddle falsehoods and bad habit of abusing the sanctity of multilateral forums deserves collective contempt and perhaps some sympathy as well," said Pratik Mathur, Counsellor at India's Permanent Mission to the UN Headquarters.

Jammu and Kashmir is an integral and inalienable part of India, he said. Meanwhile, after the UNGA opened its annual debate on Security Council reforms, speakers once again renewed their appeals for enlarging the 15-member organisation and updating its working methods to make it more transparent, inclusive, representative, accountable and effective.

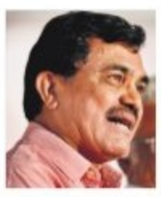
India's Permanent Representative to the UN, Ambassador Ruchira Kamboj spoke on behalf of the Group of Four, which also comprises Brazil, Germany and Japan. "Representation is an inescapable precondition for legitimacy and effectiveness and the longer Security Council reform is stalled, the greater would be its deficiency in representation," said Kamboj.

She voiced her regret over the lack of substantive work after four decades on equitable representation. The United Kingdom's Ambassador to the UN Barbara Woodward at UNGA backed permanent seats for India, Germany, Japan and Brazil at the UNSC. "We support the creation of new permanent seats for India, Germany, Japan and Brazil, as well as permanent African representation on the UNSC," said Ambassador Woodward.

Meanwhile, Pakistan has made a strong case against creating new permanent seats on the UN Security Council, saying instead an increase in the number of non-permanent members would make the 15-member body more representative, democratic and effective.

Elgar case: Teltumbde gets bail, SC firm on Navlakha house arrest

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI & SHRUTI KAKKAR @ Mumbai/New Delhi



Anand Teltumbde Gautam Navalkha

TWO of the accused in the Elgar Parishad case got relief of Friday, as the Bombay High Court granted bail to Dalit scholar-activist Prof Anand Teltumbde, and the Supreme Court refused to recall its interim order on Gautam Navalkha's house arrest. Both are at present lodged in Taloja jail in Navi Mumbai.

The Bombay High Court, however, stayed its bail order for a week to let the National Investigation Agency (NIA) challenge it in the Supreme Court.

The NIA accused Teltumbde of secretly being in touch with his brother Milind, a Maoist leader killed in an encounter with security forces in November last.

The high court pointed out that Teltumbde had already spent more than two years in jail. It observed that prima facie the charges against Teltumbde are under sections 38 (association with a terrorist outfit) and 39 (support to a terrorist outfit) under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, which have a maximum punishment of 10 years in jail.

In the Supreme Court, a bench of justices K M Joseph and Hrishikesh Roy directed the NIA to execute its direction on Navlakha's house arrest within 24 hours. It, however, allowed the NIA to seal the kitchen door of the building he chose, as it leads to an exit point and to also lock the grill. While the NIA tried to oppose the order, Justice Hrishikesh Roy said, "SG and ASG are saying that we can't get a 70-year-old in confinement?... we're getting this perception."

When the NIA sought to buy time till Monday, Justice Joseph snapped, "You think we cannot see through attempts to delay the case? For what purpose will we post on Monday? We are passing an order."

Anti-conversion laws, tedious Spl Marriage Act hurt interfaith unions

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AS the Uttarakhand government is set to increase the maximum jail term under the state's anti-conversion law to ten years, couples and civil society organisations express apprehension that the move will instill more fear among interfaith couples and further help the police to criminalise interfaith marriages. Apart from Uttarakhand, BJP-ruled states Madhya Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh, Karnataka, Haryana and Himachal Pradesh have passed anti-conversion law that bans religious conversion solely for the purpose of marriage.

With several states implementing anti-conversion laws, there is an increasing sense of fear and skepticism among interfaith couples, says Asif Iqbal, co-founder of NGO 'Dhanak for Humanity', a platform to extend help for interfaith couples. "We get an average of 1000 inquiries yearly from interfaith couples requesting guidance and legal help. In Delhi and Haryana, we help couples to reach the 'safe homes' run by state governments," said Iqbal, adding that the number of couples seeking help has decreased after the stringent conversion law came into place in states.

"Couples are extremely scared as 'love jihad' has become a political issue now. As the governments also start talking about it openly, it emboldens the police too. Even getting a rented accommodation is difficult for them. Currently, we have accommodated two couples in our office," he said. With the conversion law in place in most states, Iqbal points out that many couples elope to states where they can escape the laws of their states and to avoid pressure from family and harassment from vigilante groups.

Most couples prefer Delhi, as there is no conversion law in place in the national capital. "For couples who are coming from a different state, it will take three months to register the marriage. First, they have to stay for a month and procure identification certificates such as Aadhaar, driving license or valid proof. Registering the marriage will take a minimum three months. The officials make the process very difficult and try to jeopardise the entire process," he says.

If the Special Marriage Act (SMA) is the viable route for interfaith couples to register marriages, without conversion. The 30-day notice period under SMA and notices being sent from Sub-Divisional Magistrate's (SDM) offices to the couple's permanent address make the process gruelling. The addresses will be put up at the SDM's notice board too.

Since couples have to wait for more than a month for registration of marriage, it leaves enough room for harassment from family and administration, says Parveen, who married Ram Singh Yadav after facing opposition from her family.

The couple decided to explore the provision of the Special Marriage Act after Parveen's family got her engaged. However, when they approached the sub-divisional magistrate in South Delhi's Dwarka, the couple was discouraged.

"When we went for verification a month after applying, the Dwarka SDM warned us that notices will be sent to our homes. He even asked me to convert to Hinduism and conduct the marriage at Arya Samaj," said Parveen.

NCW for SIT probe into Raj prostitution case

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE National Commission for Women on Friday said there is "enough evidence" to suggest that young girls are being forced into prostitution in numerous districts of Rajasthan, with highways being the most common locations, and asked the Centre to constitute a Special Investigation Team (SIT) to probe possible child prostitution and trafficking racket.

The NCW, which had formed a two-member team following a report that in the Rajasthan area of Bhilwara, conflicts over loan repayments were purportedly resolved by auctioning off young women on stamp papers, said it had also found evidence of child marriages.

NCW chairperson Rekha Sharma, who had earlier written to the state Chief Secretary and Director General of Police on the matter, also visited Sawai Madhopur to inquire into the situation.

Following interactions with different families residing in the region, police and local administration, the two-member team said that "there is enough evidence to conclude that young girls are being forced into prostitution in numerous districts of Rajasthan, including Sawai Madhopur, Bhilwara, and Bharatpur, with highway sides being the most common locations." The team also discovered that the family registrations in the Bhilwara district village of Kanjar Basti, Pander, which were supposed to be updated, were deficient in key details about how many families are residing there. The NCW said that the communities provided further evidence that child marriages are still common in the state, as the local media had reported such instances. "The district administration and police are totally in denial and have failed to address the issue," a statement issued by the NCW said.

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

AMIDST news circulating about the proposed transfer of Justice Nikhil S. Kariel of Gujarat HC to Patna High Court, CJI DY Chandrachud on Friday agreed to meet the delegation of Gujarat HC Advocate's Association (GHCAA) on Monday at 1:30 pm in his chamber.

The CJI agreed to meet pursuant to the association seeking time from the judge for putting forth their grievance regarding the proposed transfer of Justice Kariel.

Reportedly, General Secretary of Gujarat HC Advocates' Association, Hardik Brahmbhatt confirmed that a delegation of the GHCAA would be flying to Delhi to meet the CJI on Monday. However, the decision about the names of the advocates who will be a part of the delegation has not been decided yet. Yesterday, the GHCAA and Telangana HC Bar Association had resolved to abstain from work indefinitely to protest against the proposed transfer. They had also resolved to abstain from work indefinitely to protest proposed transfer.

Consequently, Gujarat HC judges on Friday morning witnessed empty courtrooms with hardly few litigants or parties-in-person present.

The resolution had said that Justice Kariel is one of the finest, honest, upright and unbiased judge whose integrity and honesty is being vouched by the entire Bar in one voice. It had added that the proposed transfer was not right and the members of the Bar will protest indefinitely till the issue is resolved by the collegium and the CJI.

Justice Kaul recuses from hearing plea against extension of ED chief's tenure

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

The Supreme Court judge Justice SK Kaul on Friday recused from considering pleas challenging term extension of the ED Director Sanjay Kumar Mishra by one more year. The order was challenged on Nov 17, 2021. When the matter was taken up for hearing, Justice SK Kaul, the presiding judge of the bench, recused from considering the plea.

The bench in their order said, "List it before a bench of which one of the judges (SK Kaul) isn't part of." Against the backdrop of the center further extending Mishra's tenure till November 18, 2023, Senior Advocate Gopal Sankaranarayanan urged the bench to direct for listing the petitions urgently before another bench.

The batch of petitions had also challenged Central Vigilance Commission (Amendment) Act 2021 ("impugned act") which allows term extension of the Director of the Enforcement of Directorate up to five years.

'AMR to reduce global GDP by 3.8% by 2050'

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE World Health Organisation (WHO) on Friday said Antimicrobial Resistance (AMR), a key threat to global health, food security, and development, will reduce global annual GDP by 3.8 per cent by 2050.

"In a high-impact scenario, AMR will reduce global annual GDP by 3.8 percent by 2050. If left unchecked, in the next decade, it could result in a GDP shortfall of US$ 3.4 trillion annually, pushing 24 million more people into extreme poverty," Dr Poonam Khetrapal Singh, WHO Regional Director for South-East Asia, said.

New global estimates show that in 2019, nearly five million human deaths worldwide were associated with bacterial AMR — which occurs when bacteria, viruses, fungi and parasites change over time and no longer respond to medicines, making infections harder to treat and increasing the risk of disease spread, severe illness and death — of which 1.3 million human deaths were directly attributable to bacterial AMR.

> In a high-impact scenario, AMR will reduce global annual GDP by 3.8 per cent by 2050. If left unchecked, in the next decade, it could result in a GDP shortfall of US$ 3.4 trillion annually, pushing 24 million more people into extreme poverty
> Poonam Khetrapal, WHO official

Seeking urgent need for sustained multisectoral action to prevent and contain AMR during the World Antimicrobial Awareness Week (WAAW), the world body said that since 2014, preventing and combating AMR has been one of the eight flagship priorities of the Region, which is at high risk for the emergence and spread of AMR.

Dr Singh said all member states continue to implement national action plans to address AMR, and in each member state, a multi-sectoral working group or coordination committee on AMR has been established, in alignment with the Global Action Plan on AMR, adopted in 2015.

Over to Omar as Farooq steps down as NC president

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

IN a surprise development, former Jammu and Kashmir chief minister Farooq Abdullah on Friday stepped down as the president of J&K's grand old party, the National Conference. The party would be electing a new chief on December 5. Abdullah's son and former CM, Omar Abdullah, is likely to be the new NC president.

"It is time for the new generation to take over the responsibilities," said Abdullah, who became the party head for the first time in 1983 after the death of his father and former CM, Sheikh Abdullah. The three-time J&K CM is the current Lok Sabha MP from Srinagar-Budgam parliamentary seat.

According to NC spokesman Imran Nabi Dar, Abdullah informed his party colleagues of his decision to step down as the JKNC president.

"In spite of the best efforts of colleagues, he was adamant that he wouldn't review his decision," Dar said, adding that in light of Abdullah's sudden announcement, party General Secretary Ali Mohammad Sagar has been tasked with conducting the election for party chief. Until the election is held, Abdullah will continue to be the party president, Dar said. The forms for the election to the post can be deposited until December 1.

Abdullah, 85, is expected to assume the role of party patron while Omar, who is currently NC vice president, is likely to succeed him as the chief. The party would be contesting the first-ever Assembly polls in the Union Territory under his leadership. Unlike his father, who has taken a solid stand on the restoration of Article 370, Omar has been playing soft politics on the issue and has avoided giving any controversial statement on the issue.

BJP lines up show of strength in Guj

Union ministers, CMs and leaders from states target Congress, Rahul Gandhi in Gujarat

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

THE BJP unleashed a no-holds-barred campaign with a mega show on Friday by its Central ministers, chief ministers, and state leaders at various locations across 89 constituencies where the first-phase voting is due December 1. The narrative being conveyed in all these rallies is built against Congress and Rahul Gandhi with a rich sprinkling of Hindutva.

Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma started it off with a barrage against Rahul in Anjar where he addressed a rally. In Kutch, Sarma took potshots at the Congress leader, saying while elections are in Gujarat, Rahul is "wandering around in the South." "He was somewhere in Kerala when elections were announced in Himachal Pradesh...He doesn't want to come out of the dressing room and play."

The Assam CM hit out at Rahul over the Veer Savarkar controversy. "Rahul Gandhi does not know India's history. The kind of words he has used for Veer Savarkar reveals his ideology. He is anti-national and anti-Hindu," Sarma said.

In Morbi, where over 136 people were killed in a bridge collapse on October 30, UP Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath took command. He showered praise on the Gujarat development model and attacked the Congress. "Congress can't respect your faith, can't resolve your problems, and can't keep India secure... they cannot even respect the national anthem," said Yogi. "Before Independence, Gandhiji called for dissolving the Congress. Today that time has come," he added.

Union Minister Anurag Thakur at an election rally at Bardoli, Surat, on Friday | PTI

MP CM Shivraj Chouhan too started off with attack on Rahul at Mandvi. "Will the nation tolerate the statements Rahul Gandhi is making against Veer Savarkar? Congress has always honoured the Nehru family. Have they ever counted the contributions of Shyamji Krishna Varma (scholar) and Sardar Patel?" he asked.

"Narendra Modi is a 'kalpa-vriksha', you'll get whatever you want. Kejriwal is a babul tree, you'll get only thorns. Rahul Gandhi is a shrub that will destroy the crops," said Chouhan. "Congress used to badmouth me in MP that I'm letting Gujarat have Narmada water. Is Gujarat Pakistan? When the Sardar Sarovar dam was built, Gujarat received water and MP received electricity," he added.

Addressing a gathering in Surat, party chief JP Nadda recalled the JNU incident and said Rahul and his party always stood with the anti-national elements. "Congress is not doing 'Bharat Jodo' but 'Bharat todo'," he said.

Union minister Anurag Thakur, who addressed rallies in south Gujarat, compared Rahul's Yatra with the 'tukde tukde gang'. "He spoke about Hindu terror, stood with those who tried to divide India and is questioning Savarkar. Congress doesn't see anything beyond one family," said Thakur.

UP unit to look after 64 constituencies

Gujarat mein Modi chhe.' The Gujarati-Bhojpuri rap released by Gorakhpur MP and Bhojpuri actor Ravi Kishan has been going viral, setting the tone for a robust campaign by UP BJP leaders. The party's central leadership has entrusted around 64 Assembly segments to the UP BJP unit. These have a large presence of voters from eastern UP.

Shivraj told to focus on Saurashtra

MP Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan, the longest serving BJP CM in the country, has addressed rallies in Mandvi and Abdasa in Kutch district, besides two seats in Saurashtra, including Morbi and Bhavnagar West. Saurashtra, with 48 seats, holds key to power in Gujarat and has a big chunk of migrant workers from tribal-dominated districts of MP.

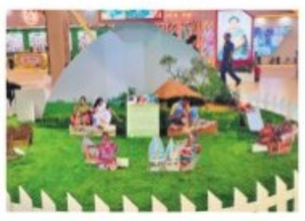
Cong, BJP in bipolar fight at Bhanupratapur

With the Aam Aadmi Party withdrawing from the fray and the Janta Congress Chhattisgarh (J) deciding to support the Congress, the battle for the Scheduled Tribe-reserved Bhanupratapur seat is going to be bipolar — between the ruling Congress and the BJP. The bypoll was necessitated after the death of Congress MLA Manoj Mandavi last month. The Congress is banking on the sympathy factor besides the development agenda while BJP hopes to cash in on the resentment among tribals over reservations. The December 5 fight will be a litmus test for both ahead of the Assembly polls next year.

Chhattisgarh pavilion draws crowds at IITF

The Chhattisgarh stall has become a centre of attraction for visitors at the ongoing India International Trade Fair in Delhi, where around 2,500 exhibitors from different parts of India are participating. Chhattisgarh is among the states in special focus at the event. The stall showcases Chhattisgarh's art and culture, besides the government's efforts to facilitate a robust rural economy and self-reliance. Schemes like Suraji Gaon Yojana, Narwa Garwa Ghurwa Badi, Rajiv Gandhi Kisan Nyay Yojana and Godhan Nyay Yojana have been presented at the pavilion, along with C Mart — villagers' own shopping mall.



Maoists admit to losing 132 members in a year

The outlawed CPI (Maoist) group has said that it lost 132 comrades in action during the 'Samadhan and Prahar' attacks on them during the last one year. While 89 of them were eliminated at Dandakaranya in Bastar, 27 ultras were gunned down in Bihar-Jharkhand, 15 in AP and three in areas bordering MP and Maharashtra. The casualty figure of security forces and civilians owing to Maoist violence was eight and 29, respectively. The rebels issued a 27-page statement on the occasion of the 22nd anniversary of Peoples Liberation Guerrilla Army. They suffered the most casualties in Sukma, Dantewada and Bijapur.

HC grants relief to interfaith couples in MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

Granting interim relief to interfaith couples from coercive action by the state government, the Madhya Pradesh High Court has termed the concerned provision of the anti-religious conversion law as "unconstitutional."

A division bench of the HC's principal seat Jabalpur, comprising Justices Sujoy Paul and Prakash Chandra Gupta, said on November 14, "...a strong prima facie case is made out by the petitioners for grant of interim protection in relation to marriage of two adult citizens on their volition and against any coercive action for violation of Section 10 of the 2021 Act. The Section 10 (of the MP Freedom of Religion Act 2021) makes it obligatory for a citizen desiring conversion to give a declaration in this regard to the district magistrate, which in our opinion ex facie is unconstitutional."

The 2021 Act provides for up to 10 years in jail and fine up to ₹1 lakh for religious conversion through coercion, force, allurement and fraudulent means and misrepresentation, including marriages solemnised through fraudulent means.

Don't make it a hobby to block roads, Mann tells Punjab farmer unions

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

PUNJAB Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann on Friday accused farmer unions of holding the state government to ransom by frequently staging dharnas to voice their demands.

The agitating farmers have put up blockades similar to the ones in the year-long agitation in Delhi at six places across Punjab. As a result, highways are blocked. The farmers allege that the government has betrayed them. After a cabinet meeting, Mann urged the unions to exercise their right to protest without creating inconvenience to the public.

"Some organisations have made it a hobby to block roads. This is unwarranted," he said.

"By blocking roads frequently, the protestors will lose public sympathy. You may hold protests outside the houses of MLAs, ministers, or the DC office. We have, however, noticed that some unions have done advance bookings for dharnas," said Mann. He added his doors are always open to discussions. He has held meetings with farmers too and accepted their major demands. "Despite this, some organisations are harassing people," said the CM.

Listing the pro-farmer initiatives of his government, Mann said that for the first time, his government has cleared the pending arrears of sugarcane farmers. The government is giving ₹380 as State Agreed Price of the sugarcane crop, he said, adding it was the highest price being given by any state government.

Mann said that sugar mills have been directed to start crushing from November 20 and ensure timely payment to the farmers. They have also got uninterrupted power supply during the paddy season.

The CM said his government had requested the farmers to adopt Direct Seeding of Rice, which received an overwhelming response.

Union minister faces arrest for poll code breach

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

A Cooch Behar court in West Bengal on Friday issued an arrest warrant against Union Minister of State (Minority Affairs) John Barla over alleged violation of the model code of conduct in the 2019 Lok Sabha elections.

"The Tufanganj court issued summons asking Barla to appear before the magistrate by November 15. But the minister failed to comply. The warrant was issued for contempt of court," a police officer said.

Barla is accused of holding a rally in front of the office of the block development officer before while the model code of conduct was in place. The Election Commission officials had then lodged a complaint with Bakshirhat police station.

Barla said that he would challenge the arrest warrant in the higher court.

Earlier this month, Alipurduar court also issued an arrest warrant against Union Minister of State (Home) Nisith Pramanik in a 13-year-old theft case after his lawyer failed to be present in the court on November 11.

MY factor at work? RJD set to replace Bihar chief 'sulking' over son's ouster

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

IN signs of unease within the ruling RJD, the party is set to replace its state unit chief Jagdanand Singh with Abdul Bari Sidiqqui, a former Bihar minister. An official announcement is likely on November 24. sources said.

Jagdanand is apparently adamant about not resuming his work despite persuasion. Singh, considered a close aide of Lalu Prasad, has been sulking ever since his son Sudhakar lost his ministerial post last month after he fell out with CM Nitish Kumar.

Jagdanand has not visited the state party office since October 2. Nor did he attend the two-day party meeting in Delhi last month.

Sudhakar was told to quit after he spoke about corruption in his department and questioned the efficacy of farm plans rolled out by the CM.

Party leader Bhola Yadav, another close aide of Lalu, is tipped to be the party's secretary general.

RJD sources said Jagdanand had gone to Delhi recently to meet Lalu, and cited his poor health for not being able to continue in his post. By giving the state party reins back to Siddiqui — he had served on the post for nearly seven years — the RJD hopes to strengthen its Muslim-Yadav vote bank.

Meanwhile, party spokesperson Chitranjan Gagan rejected the speculation over Siddiqui replacing Singh. "Singh is not keeping well and is unable to do the work," he said.

However, a section of party leaders said Siddiqui would get the post as he was denied the Rajya Sabha berth despite being the senior-most leader of the Muslim community. Though Siddiqui enjoyed considerable influence in Mithilanchal, another leader Faiyaz Alam, who also comes from the region, was sent to the Rajya Sabha. Siddiqui lost to BJP's Haribhushan Thakur in the 2020 Assembly polls.

Rajasthan DSP gets life term for killing SHO

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Additional Sessions Court of Sawai Madhopur (Rajasthan) on Friday sentenced 30 people, including a Deputy Superintendent of Police, Mahender Singh Tanwar, to life term for burning alive a station house officer (SHO) in his vehicle during an incident of communal conflict in Sawai Madhopur in 2011.

The case pertains to the murder of Phool Mohammed Khan, the then SHO of Man Town Police Station in Sawai Madhopur who was burnt alive in June 2011. According to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI), which registered the case June 30, 2011, on the request of the Rajasthan government, Khan got injured during a communal riot in the area and took refuge in his official vehicle. A riotous mob surrounded and set the vehicle ablaze, trapping Khan inside it and burning him alive.

The local police registered a case at Man Town Police Station on March 17, 2011 against 21 accused and some other persons. The case was initially investigated by the CID but was later passed on to CBI which filed a supplementary chargesheet.

The CBI found that Tanwar had a personal grudge against Khan. He conspired with another accused of the area and instigated the protestors by speaking against the SHO.

Also, on the day of the incident, he fled from the spot instead of taking control of the situation and also falsely informed the supervisory officers that he was controlling the situation at the place of occurrence.

Following the trial, the court convicted 30 accused out of the 79 facing trial, and acquitted the other 49. All the convicted people were given life imprisonment and handed different fines, ranging between between ₹2000 and ₹ 50,000, under different sections.

Celebration in Bihar village after TV reaches people for the first time

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

A long-cherished dream is looming large — literally — in front of residents of Chormara village in Bihar's Maoist-dominated Jamui district. For the first time ever, a television set was on Thursday installed in the village.

Children jumped with excitement and men and women clapped enthusiastically when a 43-inch LED TV was switched on. "We have got a TV for the first time," Rajat Koda, a local resident, said.

"We are thrilled with the installation of the television set in the village. Now we will also be able to connect with the outside world," another resident, Dilip Kumar, said.

The TV was brought following an initiative by the officers of the Central Reserve Police Force, which is deployed here to ensure the villagers' safety.

Deputy inspector general (Muzaffarpur range) Sandeep Singh and Commandant Jogendra Singh Maurya approached the Jamui branch of State Bank of India for the initiative, and the latter installed the TV, connected to DTH, under the community development programme.

Trust, development and security can bring a change in the lives of residents hit by extremism, Singh said, adding that law and order situation is better with enhanced coordination between the CRPF and district police.

Maurya said that the government is working for the development of all villagers, and other facilities would also be provided to them gradually.

"All those who have deviated from the mainstream of the society should return," he said. SBI assistant general manager Akash Anand advised villagers to explore opportunities to set up small industries by taking bank loans. Women too can start self-help groups for earning livelihood, he added.

Chormara is located under the Barhat police station area, which was one of the hotbeds of left wing extremism in the state until three years ago. The village, inhabited mainly by tribals, is surrounded by forest and hillocks.

HC likens SP's bulldozer act with Bollywood flicker

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE Gauhati High Court has likened the action of the superintendent of police of Nagaon in Assam in bulldozing the houses of some accused to a potential Bollywood potboiler.

"In a lighter vein, I have not seen a Hindi movie of that category. Send the story of the SP. Director Rohit Shetty can make a film on this," Chief Justice RM Chhaya said during a hearing on Thursday.

On May 21 this year, some people protesting against the death of a fish trader, Safikul Islam, in police custody, had set fire to the Batadrava police station in Nagaon and attacked the personnel. The next day, the police demolished the houses of five accused. The HC had registered a case suo moto based on a letter received from two lawyers.

"Nobody is safe. Under the guise of investigation, you pull down somebody's house. Even Lord Macaulay must not have thought of it. It is a dent on criminal law," Chhaya said.

"...as per the report of the SP, a thorough search, made by the police team, required the use of an excavator to dig the house. But it requires permission. Tomorrow, you will say something is here. So will you dig out my courtroom?," the judge said.

"What is recovered is one 9mm pistol. We don't know if it was planted or recovered. You show me from any criminal jurisprudence that for investigating a crime, the police without any order can uproot a person by applying a bulldozer," Chhaya told the government counsel. "Even the DIG, the IG or the DG have to pass through the gamut of law. Only because they head the police department, they cannot break anybody's house," Chhaya said, ordering that the incident be brought to the notice of higher home department officers.

BIDEN SHIELDS MBS FROM LEGAL ACTION IN US

Recommends immunity in civil case brought against him over Jamal Khashoggi's murder

WASHINGTON

THE US government recommended on Thursday that Saudi Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman was immune from legal action over the 2018 murder of a dissident journalist, according to court documents.

Prince Mohammed was named prime minister by royal decree in late September, sparking suggestions he was looking to skirt exposure in cases filed in foreign courts — including a civil action brought in the US by Hatice Cengiz, fiancee of slain Washington Post columnist Jamal Khashoggi.

The killing four years ago of Khashoggi, a Saudi insider-turned-critic, in the kingdom's Istanbul consulate temporarily turned Prince Mohammed — widely known as MBS — into a pariah in the West.

His lawyers previously argued that he "sits at the apex of Saudi Arabia's government" and thus qualifies for the kind of immunity US courts afford foreign heads of state and other high-ranking officials.

Mohammed bin Salman

The United States government had until Thursday to offer an opinion on that matter, if it chose to offer one at all. Its recommendation is not binding on the court.

"The United States respectfully informs the Court that Defendant Mohammed bin Salman, the Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, is the sitting head of government and, accordingly, is immune from this suit," read the submission to the US District Court for the District of Columbia, from the administration of President Joe Biden. But it added that "the Department of State takes no view on the merits of the present suit and reiterates its unequivocal condemnation of the heinous murder of Jamal Khashoggi."

The recommendation sparked fury among supporters of Cengiz's action, including representatives of Democracy for the Arab World Now (DAWN), the US-based NGO that Khashoggi founded.

"The Biden admin went out of its way to recommend immunity for MBS and shield him from accountability," said DAWN's executive director Sarah Leah Whitson. "Now that Biden has declared he's got total impunity, we can expect MBS's attacks against people in our country to escalate even further."

Agnes Callamard, secretary general of Amnesty International, called the recommendation a "deep betrayal."

Prince Mohammed, who has been the kingdom's de facto ruler for several years, previously served as deputy prime minister as well as defence minister under his father King Salman. AFP

ICBM TEST

Tensions rise as North Korean ballistic missile lands near Japan

SEOUL

NORTH Korea fired an intercontinental ballistic missile that landed near Japanese waters on Friday in its second major weapons test this month that showed a potential ability to launch nuclear strikes on all of the US mainland.

While it's unclear whether North Korea possesses functioning nuclear-armed missiles, some experts say Friday's launch involved its longest-range missile, which is still under development and is designed to carry multiple nuclear warheads to overcome US missile defense systems.

North Korea's recent torrid run of weapons tests aims to advance its nuclear arsenal and win greater concessions in future diplomacy. It comes as China and Russia have opposed US moves to toughen UN sanctions aimed at curbing North Korea's nuclear programme.

The US quickly condemned the launch and vowed to take "all necessary measures" to guarantee the safety of its territory and its allies South Korea and Japan.

"We again call for North Korea to stop further unlawful, destabilising acts. On behalf of the United States, I reaffirm our ironclad commitment to our Indo-Pacific alliances," Vice President Kamala Harris said in Bangkok.

South Korea's Joint Chiefs of Staff said it detected the ICBM launch from North Korea's capital region around 10.15 a.m. Japan said it appeared to fly on a high trajectory and land west of its island of Hokkaido.

As per South Korean and Japanese estimates, the missile flew 6,000-6,100 km at a maximum altitude of 1,000 kilometres.

Later on Friday, Japan and the US held joint military drills in the airspace over the Sea of Japan, Tokyo defence officials said. AP

It's 'alone' Musk as Tweeps resign en-masse

SAN FRANSCISCO

TWITTER continued to bleed engineers and other workers after new owner Elon Musk gave them a choice to pledge to "extremely hardcore" work or resign with severance pay.

While it's not clear exactly how many of Twitter's already-decimated staff took Musk up on his offer, the newest round of departures means the platform is continuing to lose workers just at it is gearing up for the 2022 FIFA World Cup, one of the busiest events on Twitter that can overwhelm its systems if things go haywire.

Hundreds of employees signaled they were leaving ahead of a Thursday deadline set by Musk, posting farewell messages, a salute emoji or other symbols familiar to Twitter workers on the company's internal Slack messaging board, according to employees who still have access to the board. Dozens also took publicly to Twitter to announce they were signing off after the deadline.

"The best people are staying, so I'm not super worried," Musk tweeted on Thursday night in response to the widespread departures.

For employees posting on internal Slack channels, it was not always possible to tell if they were posting salute emojis because they were leaving or out of solidarity with departing colleagues, according to a current employee who spoke on condition of anonymity out of job security concerns, and also an employee taking the voluntary layoff who spoke on condition of anonymity because of the confidentiality required to get severance pay.

The troubled social media network's management told employees Thursday that offices were temporarily closed and inaccessible, even with a badge, according to Zoe Schiffer, a journalist for the tech industry newsletter Platformer.

"Going forward, to build a breakthrough Twitter 2.0 and succeed in an increasingly competitive world, we will need to be extremely hardcore," Musk wrote in the ultimatum, an internal memo sent Wednesday and seen by AFP.

"This will mean working long hours at high intensity. Only exceptional performance will constitute a passing grade," he added.

Staff had been asked to follow a link to affirm their commitment to "the new Twitter" by 5.00 pm New York time on Thursday. If they did not do so, they lost their jobs, receiving three months of severance pay — an unusual method even in the United States.

World's oldest school pupil dies in Kenya at 99

NAIROBI

File pic of Priscilla Sitieni

THE world's oldest primary school student, Priscilla Sitieni, whose resolve to acquire an education in her 90s inspired a French film and won praise from United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), has died in Kenya aged 99, local media reported.

Her grandson, Sammy Chepsiror, told The Standard newspaper that Gogo Priscilla (Granny Priscilla), as she was fondly known, died at home on Wednesday after developing a chest complication.

"Gogo has been in good health and attending her classes until three days to her demise when she developed chest pains, which forced her out of school," he told the newspaper on Thursday. "We are thankful for the 100 years of her life. She made all of us proud," he added.

She was 94 when she persuaded the headmaster of the local school in her village in Kenya's Rift Valley to admit her, as per UNESCO, which hailed her as "a role model for her community and beyond".

In an interview with the UN agency last year, she said her aim was to motivate young mothers in Kenya to return to school after having children, instead of dropping out due to shame or fear of social stigma. AFP

Committed to working quickly on FTA with India: Sunak

LONDON

BRITISH Rishi Sunak said that his government remains committed to working 'as quickly as possible' towards a successful conclusion to the free trade agreement (FTA) talks with India, as the majority of the substantive negotiation conversations were completed at the end of last month.

At a House of Commons session on the G20 Summit in Bali, Indonesia, the British Indian leader updated Parliament that he reviewed progress on the FTA during his first meeting with PM Narendra Modi since taking charge at 10 Downing Street.

He was questioned by Opposition Labour Party Leader Keir Starmer and his own Conservative Party MPs on the timeline for the completion of the agreement with India.

"I discussed the free trade agreement with India, and both the Prime Minister of India and I committed our teams to working as quickly as possible to see if we can bring a successful conclusion...," said Sunak.

"...I am pleased that the majority of the substantive negotiation conversations were concluded by the end of October. We will now work at pace with the Indian teams to try to resolve the issues and come to a mutually satisfactory conclusion," he said.

He reiterated the UK government's stance since the Diwali deadline for the FTA was missed, that he would not 'sacrifice quality for speed' because it is important to take the time to get trade deals right.

Sunak was also questioned about whether he raised issues like India's stance over the Russia-Ukraine conflict and also the UK being an exception within Europe to not be offered the e-visa facility, something he confirmed was discussed and will remain on government's agenda. PTI

RBI pegs Q2 GDP growth rate in range of 6.1-6.3%

Central bank estimates current fiscal year GDP growth at 7%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

DESPITE the global headwinds, India's economic growth is likely to be in the range of 6.1 to 6.3% in the second quarter (Q2) of the current fiscal, said an article published in the Reserve Bank's bulletin released on Friday.

The apex bank pegged current fiscal year gross domestic product (GDP) growth at 7%.

"In India, supply responses in the economy are gaining strength. With headline inflation beginning to show signs of easing, the domestic macroeconomic outlook can best be characterised as resilient but sensitive to formidable global headwinds, the RBI said in its news bulletin.

Urban demand appears robust, rural demand is muted but more recently picking up traction, it added.

The Industrial production (IIP) shed the contraction in August and turned in positive momentum in September on a seasonally adjusted basis after a gap of two months. This is corroborated by the manufacturing purchasing managers' index (PMI) for October. In the services sector, the PMI for October accelerated from a six-month low in September. The construction sector remains in expansion, and contact-intensive services, in particular, hospitality, travel and recreation, are experiencing explosive growth. Aggregate demand, on the other hand, is showing an uneven profile. "While urban demand appears robust as the section on domestic developments profiles, rural demand which was muted, is gaining some strength recently," said the RBI article. Lead indicators of economic activity point to sustained resilience of the Indian economy in an uncertain and increasingly hostile global environment.

PAKISTAN

IMF PLANS TO MOVE FAST ON BAILOUT PROGRAMME

Pakistan and the International Monetary Fund (IMF) will "expeditiously" finish their technical engagement as part of the ninth review of Pakistan's bailout programme, Pakistan's finance ministry said on Thursday. Pakistani finance minister Ishaq Dar held a virtual meeting with the IMF Mission Chief for Pakistan, Nathan Porter. "Engagement at the technical level shall be concluded for proceeding with the 9th Review," a finance ministry statement said. Pakistan is in need of funds to shore up its struggling economy, exacerbated by devastating floods that wiped out much of the country's agriculture and infrastructure in recent months. The IMF would "sympathetically view" assistance for flood victims, as per the statement, which added that it would firm up estimates for humanitarian assistance and priorities for recovery efforts. The IMF board in August approved the seventh and eighth reviews of Pakistan's bailout programme, allowing for a release of over $1.1 billion.

INDONESIA

'NOVEMBER INFLATION COULD COME IN AT 5.5%'

Indonesia's headline inflation in November could come in at 5.5%, or lower than previous month when headline inflation was 5.71%, its deputy governor said on Friday, citing Bank Indonesia's latest survey. "(5.5%) is still high and still needs policies to manage that, but actually we are in a relatively better position than other countries," Deputy Governor Dody Budi Waluyo said. BI's inflation target is a range of 2-4%. In September, inflation reached nearly 6% or the highest in seven years. Referring to BI's key interest rate, Dody said while the current rate of 5.25% was "quite high", BI was taking into account the effect of tightening monetary policy on economic recovery. At BI's policy meeting on Thursday, BI raised its key interest rate by 50 basis points for a third consecutive month and pledged to strengthen its response to "high" inflation expectations.

PHILIPPINES

'CENTRAL BANK HAS TO RAISE RATES TO SUPPORT PESO'

The Philippine central bank will have to raise interest rates if the U.S. Federal Reserve tightens policy further to support the peso and prevent the currency's weakness from further stoking inflation, its governor said on Friday. Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas has raised interest rates by 300 basis points this year to curb inflation, running near 14-year highs, and support the peso which has fallen sharply against the dollar, underpinned by aggressive US monetary tightening. The Federal Reserve is expected to deliver a smaller rate hike in December, but economists polled by Reuters see a longer period of tightening and a higher policy rate peak as risks to the current outlook. "If the Fed does 50, we cannot have zero right? So the question is whether it's 25 or 50," BSP Governor Felipe Medalla told Reuters in an interview in Manila. "If you have a scenario (where) the Fed will not hike any more then I can tell you flat out, neither are we." BSP raised interest rates by 75 basis points on Thursday, largely to match the Fed's three-quarter point hike this month, and is expected to hike again in December.

Zomato co-founder Mohit Gupta resigns

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

ZOMATO co-founder Mohit Gupta has quit the foodtech company. This is the third high-profile exit from the company in recent weeks.

Gupta joined Zomato in 2018 as the head of food delivery. He was elevated to co-founder in 2021 to oversee new businesses. In recent times, Zomato's new initiatives head and former food delivery head Rahul Ganjoo and head of its Intercity Legends service Siddharth Jhawar had left the company.

"You have done a tremendous job here, brought us back from the brink of extinction, scaled the business to new heights, got us to profitability, and above all, coached me over the years to become capable of running such a large and complex business," said Deepinder Goyal, Zomato CEO. Gupta in his farewell message said that he will remain a "long only investor in Zomato". The big exits at Zomato comes at a time when the loss-making company is expecting to break-even in the next 2 to 4 quarters. The foodtech firm's consolidated net loss in the September quarter (Q2FY23) narrowed to Rs 251 crore from Rs 430 crore a year ago quarter (Q2FY22).

However, the losses grew 35% sequentially as Zomato had reported a loss of Rs 186 Crore in the June quarter (Q1FY23). This surge can be attributed to Blinkit's acquisition.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

TELECOM operator Reliance Jio has become the only operator to provide True-5G services across Delhi-NCR region, including Delhi, Gurugram, Noida, Ghaziabad, Faridabad and other major locations.

Jio is rolling out the most-advanced True-5G network at a rapid pace, now covering major parts of this geography. This transformational network will be present across all important localities and areas including most residential areas, hospitals, schools, colleges and universities, government buildings, malls and markets, among others. Jet cuts salary, sends 10% staff on leave

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

GROUNDED carrier Jet Airways has implemented a steep salary cut of up to 50% for a section of its employees and sent nearly 10% of its workforce on leave without pay..

This comes as the airline, under the new management of Jalan Kalrock Consortium (JKC), is struggling to take-off amid an ongoing tussle with its lenders, among other hurdles.

Confirming this development, Jet Airways' CEO Sanjiv Kapoor took on Twitter and said two-thirds of total staff won't be impacted at all, while of the remaining one-third; most will be on temporary pay reduction. He added that 10% of the total workforce will be on temporary leave without pay and that none of them have been let go.

"These are all good people who have been working hard to try to do what has never been done before: revive an airline that has gone bankrupt. However with the ownership transfer timeline slipping due to factors outside our control, some temporary hard decisions had to be taken,"said Kapoor.

JKC in a statement on Friday noted it might take 'difficult' near-term decisions to manage cashflows. It also said they have not breached any terms of the insolvency resolution plan.

This statement comes amid rumours that lenders of the airline may approach court to oppose JKC's proposed and passed resolution plan.

The fresh tension between the two parties brewed after the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT), last month, directed the consortium to pay the unpaid provident fund and gratuity dues, amounting over ₹250 crore, of employees of the carrier. JKC reportedly informed lenders that it would not be making this additional payment.

There are also differences between the two parties over the minutes of the asset monetization plan of the airline and final handover of the company.

"JKC has deposited ₹150 crore as required under the court approved resolution plan with the lenders, with the remaining amounts to be invested only after next steps of NCLT are fulfilled in terms of handover of the company to us," JKC said in a statement.

I-T searches MG Motor premises

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

TWO weeks after the Indian government initiated a probe on Chinese company owned Morris Garages (MG) Motor, Income tax officials on Friday conducted search operations at the carmaker's manufacturing facility in Halol, Gujarat, and its corporate headquarters in Gurugram, Haryana.

According to sources aware of the development, IT sleuths seized laptops of MG Motor's senior employees for further inspection.

This fresh development comes amidst growing scrutiny over Chinese companies operating in India.

Since the worsening of relation between the two nations mid-2020, India has banned numerous Chinese-origin applications and local authorities are probing serious financial crimes at smartphone companies such as Xiaomi and Vivo.

ONDC TO INTRODUCE FASHION, HOME DÉCOR VERTICALS IN DEC

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE government-backed Open Network for Digital Commerce; which has been receiving enormous interest from tech companies, banks, ecommerce firms and start-ups; will introduce new verticals such as home decor, electronics and fashion, among others, from December.

Currently, grocery and food verticals are available in Bengaluru. ONDC went live with a beta launch in Bengaluru in September-end.

In a month's time, it is also planning to launch a business-to-business (B2B) testing phase with the groceries vertical, and with three logistics players coming on board, inter-city is also possible now, said officials.

Speaking about ONDC, Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal on Friday said the platform gives small retailers an opportunity to provide their services, products to buyers across the country.

Goyal said ONDC has the ability to transform e-commerce and one can buy not only in India, but also from everywhere in the world as the platform gains traction and builds up more buyers and sellers.

When asked whether big ecommerce players will be sidelined, the minister said, "We are not trying to sideline anybody. In fact, we will take everybody on board, just like UPI has taken everybody big and small players on board."

Goyal added that this provides strength to small players to compete with large ones. Soon, buyers will have wider choices and verticals to pick their favourite ones and communication can also happen in local languages.

Apart from Bengaluru, ONDC will start its testing in other states and cities soon. Currently, in Kerala mobility comes under ONDC, and anybody can book a cab/auto in Kochi, and the same service will soon be available in other states too.

"In five-year horizon, anybody who has any product or service to sell will make their catalogue digitally visible in the open network," ONDC CEO T Koshy said.

About 21 players have gone live on the network and over 2,000 transactions have been held in Bengaluru.

"As of today, over 600 entities are trying to integrate with us. Every week about 15 of them are getting added and out of the 600, 70% are start-ups. It's not just small companies, you have the big companies like Unilever, Kotak Mahindra Bank and IDFC bank," he added.

3-4 chapters still unfinished in UK-India FTA

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

ONLY three to four chapters including intellectual property and goods are yet to be concluded with regard to FTA between the UK and India, according to government sources privy to the development.

This is the first time when there will be a separate chapter for financial services, which is on the verge of completion. "Three to four chapters are yet to be finalised. There are some disagreements with regard to goods and intellectual property, among others. Financial services is on the verge of completion. This is the first time when there will be a complete separate chapter on financial services in FTA," the source said.

"Though the chapter is separate, there won't be much of a difference from other agreements. The UK had been insisting on a chapter on financial services, that's why we are making like this," he further stated.

Also, according to the sources, government has said they are under no deadline pressure. Though they have internally set a target of March 2023. Ministry officials said their aim is to protect Indian interest, so they have not set any timeline to close it.

New draft data protection bill proposes stiffer penalties

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THREE months after withdrawing the data protection bill after protests from big technology companies, the Centre on Friday released the draft of a new comprehensive law, making some of the provisions even more stringent.

According to the new proposed law, Digital Personal Data Protection Bill 2022, entities will have to pay as much as ₹250 crore in case of failure to take reasonable measures to prevent data breach, against ₹15 crore or 4% of the global turnover of an entity proposed in the previous bill which was withdrawn in August.

The draft bill, which is open for consultation till December 17, 2022, also proposes to set up a Data Protection Board, which will carry on functions as per the provisions of the Bill. Failure to notify the board of any personal data breach will invite penalties up to ₹200 crore. Non-fulfilment of additional obligations in relation to children will also attract a similar fine. Also, non-fulfilment of additional obligations of significant data fiduciary will attract penalties up to ₹150 crore.

The government has made several changes after withdrawing the Personal Data Protection Bill 2019 during the monsoon session of Parliament this year.

This is the fourth iteration of the Bill. The government in its explanatory note of the Bill said the purpose of the legislation is to provide for the processing of digital personal data in a manner that recognises both the right of individuals to protect their personal data and the need to process personal data for lawful purposes.

Minister of state for electronics and IT Rajeev Chandrasekhar said the new bill is a modern legislation that will help achieve Prime Narendra Modi's goal of $1 trillion digital economy.

PENALTY

Failure of data processor or data fiduciary to take reasonable security safeguards to prevent personal data breach - Up to ₹250 crore

Failure to notify in the event of a personal data breach - Up to ₹200 crore

Non-fulfilment of additional obligations of Significant Data Fiduciary - Up to ₹150 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU

HOMEGROWN Koo, which has become the second largest microblogging platform in the world, will hire former employees of Twitter.

The platform's co-founder Mayank Bidawatka said, "Very sad to see #RIPTwitter and related # to this going down. We will hire some of these Twitter ex-employees as we keep expanding and raise our larger, next round." He added that they deserve to work where their talent is valued. "Microblogging is about people power. Not suppression." According to agency reports, Twitter told its employees that the office will be temporarily closed. "We will soon enable you to seamlessly migrate all your old Tweets to Koo and also help find your existing Twitter following on Koo. Will keep you posted," said Koo co-founder.

As a matter of caution, the company isolated machines and disconnected itself from other constituents of the capital market. CDSL has reported the incident to the authorities and is working with its cybersecurity advisors to analyse the impact. PTI

QUICK PASSES

Poland escorted by fighter jets

WARSAW: Robert Lewandowski and his Poland teammates enjoyed a special World Cup send-off accompanied by fighter jets but critics questioned the use of military resources. Defence Minister Mariusz Blaszczak took to public radio on Friday to defend the decision to escort the team plane through Polish airspace the previous day. "It's a good sign showing support for our players," he said. He also posted a picture of the team's plane flying next to an F-16.

Mane out of World Cup

DOHA: Senegal star Sadio Mane has lost his race to be fit for the 2022 World Cup and has been withdrawn from their squad, the country's football federation announced on Thursday. His club Bayern Munich added later that the 30-year-old, who was voted second in the Ballon d'Or last month behind Karim Benzema, had undergone "successful surgery" in Innsbruck where "a tendon was reattached to the head of his right fibula".

German FA ready to face fines for stance

MADINAT AL-SHAMAL (QATAR): German Football Association president Bernd Neuendorf said on Friday that the organisation was ready to face financial sanctions for taking a stand on human rights issues at the World Cup in Qatar. DFB chief Neuendorf said he was "irritated" by statements made by FIFA in the run-up to the tournament, which starts on Sunday.

France sweating on Benzema and Varane

DOHA: Defending champions France are hoping Karim Benzema and Raphael Varane will be fit enough to feature in their opening World Cup match against Australia, with teammate Adrien Rabiot insisting both are "determined to play". Benzema has been struggling with a thigh problem while Varane is recovering from a leg injury. Both players trained apart from the rest of the France squad during a session open to the media at the home stadium of Qatari champions Al Sadd on Thursday evening.

Brazil's Neymar plays with the ball during a training session | AFP

Hoping for Ney-miracle

World Cup could mean redemption for Brazil's forward after knockout losses in 2014 & 2018

TALES AZZONI

WHEN Neymar was preparing to play for Brazil at his first World Cup back in 2014, the hype surrounding him was considerable. He had just moved from Santos to Spanish club Barcelona as one of the most promising young players in the world. And he had impressed early on with the Catalan club, quickly gaining the status of star in the world of soccer.

The common questions surrounding Neymar at the time were about when — not if — he would be crowned the best in the world. Fast forward eight years, though, and things have changed considerably. The Brazilian remains one of the top players in the world, but he has failed to fully meet the expectations that came along his high-profile move to Europe.

Neymar lost visibility after joining Paris Saint-Germain in 2017, and it's been a while since he has been in consideration for the best player of the year awards. His performances with Brazil in World Cups have mostly disappointed since the 2014 tournament at home, when he was carried off on a stretcher because of a back injury in the quarterfinals. At the 2018 World Cup in Russia, Neymar crouched on the field and stared in disbelief as the Belgium players celebrated their victory over Brazil in the last eight. He was crucial for Brazil when the country won its first Olympic gold medal at the 2016 Rio de Janeiro Games, a feat that was celebrated widely nationwide and earned him widespread praise. But at 30 years old, the questions surrounding Neymar ahead of the World Cup in Qatar are a bit different.

Did he make a mistake by leaving Barcelona to join PSG? Is he being overshadowed by Lionel Messi and Kylian Mbappé? Is he past his peak? But for Neymar, the only question that really matters is whether he can come through for Brazil and lead the national team to its first World Cup title in 20 years. "I don't want to let this World Cup get away from me," Neymar said earlier this year. "I don't want to let this opportunity slip through my hands. I'm doing everything possible to prepare for it, physically and mentally. It is my biggest dream right now. I'm focused on winning this title."

This year's World Cup could mean redemption for Neymar, and if he does find a way to lead Brazil to the title in Qatar, his name will most likely be back at the top of the award lists. "I'll give my life at the World Cup," Neymar said in a chat with former Brazil midfielder Diego Ribas. He has been doing well this season again and is one of the leaders of a PSG team that hopes to finally win its first Champions League title. Brazil coach Tite is undoubtedly relying on Neymar to take the helm and lead Brazil in Qatar, hoping that his talent — and now his maturity — will finally make the difference and give the national team a chance to win its first World Cup title since 2002, when Neymar was still only 10.

And hopefully for Brazil, instead of leaving the field on a stretcher like in 2014 or watching opponents celebrate like in 2018, Neymar will end his World Cup run by lifting the trophy for his team and his people. AP

No beer in stadiums, fans left high and dry

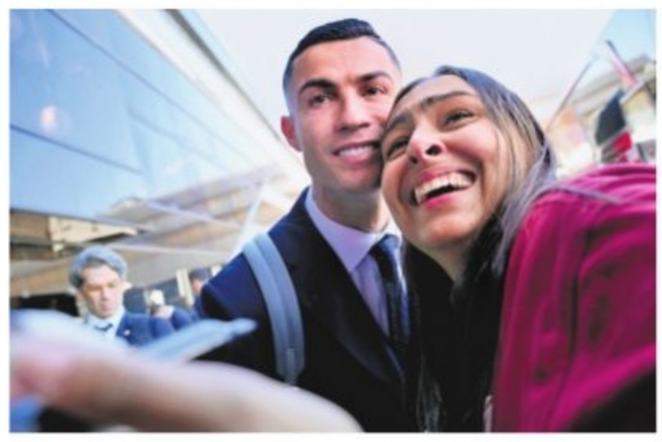
AGENCIES @ Doha

QATAR banned the sale of beer at World Cup stadiums on Friday, a sudden U-turn on the deal the conservative Muslim emirate made to secure the soccer tournament with only two days to go before the opening game.

The move was the latest sign of the tension of staging the event, which is not just a sports tournament but also a month-long party, in the autocratic country where the sale of alcohol is heavily restricted. It's also a significant blow to World Cup beer sponsor Budweiser and raised questions about how much control FIFA retains over its tournament.

When Qatar launched its bid to host the World Cup, the country agreed to FIFA's requirements of selling alcohol in stadiums — but the details were only released in September, suggesting how fraught the negotiations may have been. Friday's statement from FIFA said non-alcoholic beer will still be sold at the eight stadiums, while champagne, wine, whiskey and other alcohol will be served in the luxury hospitality areas of the arenas.

But the vast majority of ticket holders don't have access to those areas; they will be able to drink alcoholic beer in the evenings in what is known as the FIFA Fan Festival, a designated party area. Outside of the tournament-run areas, Qatar puts strict limits on the purchase and consumption of alcohol, though its sale has been permitted in hotel bars for years. "Following discussions between Qatar authorities and FIFA, a decision has been made to focus the sale of alcoholic beverages on the FIFA Fan Festival, other fan destinations and licensed venues, removing sales points of beer from ... stadium perimeters," FIFA said in a statement. As the news broke, Budweiser's Twitter account tweeted: "Well, this is awkward..." without elaborating. The tweet was later deleted. The company's partnership with FIFA started at the 1986 meet, and they are in negotiations for renewing their deal for the next World Cup.



SET FOR THE CARNIVAL

Centre-stage

Some of them are unique and some are grand. Here's a look at the venues that will host the World Cup this edition

Al-Khor, Al-Bayt Stadium (60,000)

The venue for the opening game between Qatar and Ecuador on November 20, as well as the group-stage showdown between Spain and Germany and the second semifinal. It is constructed in the form of a Bedouin tent although there are plans for the upper tier to be removed after the competition. Situated on Qatar's north-east coast, around 35 kilometres from Doha, it is therefore beyond the reach of the capital's metro system, making it one of the harder venues to access for supporters.

Doha, Khalifa International Stadium (40,000)

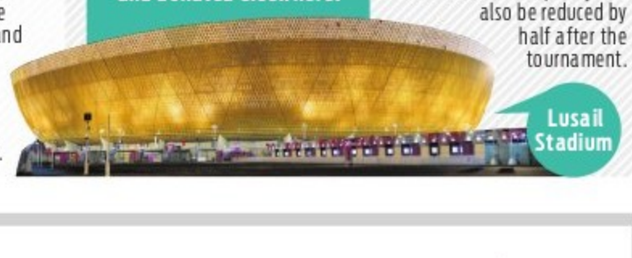
Built in 1976, it is the only venue which existed before Qatar was awarded the WC, although it has since been transformed. Hosted the 2011 Asian Cup final and the final of the 2019 Club WC between Liverpool & Flamengo. Will host England's opening clash with Iran.

Doha, Al-Thumama Stadium (40,000)

Situated to the south of central Doha, close to the city's Hamad Airport, it is built in the form of a gahfiya, the traditional cap worn by men across the Middle East. It will host one quarterfinal, and the capacity will be reduced to 20,000 after the World Cup.

Lusail, Lusail Iconic Stadium (80,000 capacity)

Qatar's biggest stadium will host the final on December 18 as well as, amongst other matches, the first semifinal. Built in Lusail, a planned city for a population of 200,000 people situated 15 kilometres north of central Doha, there are plans for the stadium to be transformed into a community hub after the World Cup, with most of its seats being removed and donated elsewhere.



Al-Rayyan, Education City Stadium (40,000)

Situated among university campuses in Al-Rayyan, just to the west of Doha itself, the stadium will notably host one of the quarterfinals. Its capacity will be reduced by half after the tournament with plans for the seats to be donated to developing countries.

Al-Rayyan, Ahmad Bin Ali Stadium (40,000)

The home of one of Qatar's most successful clubs, Al-Rayyan, the stadium has been built on the site of the old venue of the same name and is one metro stop beyond the nearby Education City. Located where the city meets the desert, its capacity will also be reduced by half after the tournament.

Doha, Stadium 974 (40,000)

Built out of shipping containers on Doha's waterfront, the stadium will be completely dismantled after the event. The number 974 is the international dialling code for Qatar but also represents the number of containers used.

Al-Wakrah, Al-Janoub Stadium (40,000)

Located south of Doha in the city of Al-Wakrah, the stadium's design was inspired by the traditional boats used for pearl diving and fishing. Among other games, it will host defending champions France in their opening game against Australia. The capacity is expected to reduce to half after the World Cup.

Selectors caught short

FIROZ MIRZA/GOMESH S @Chennai

SUNIL Joshi, former India all-rounder who had played 15 Tests and 69 ODIs for the country apart from 160 first-class matches, attended the MCA U-16 Payyade Trophy prize distribution ceremony at the Garware Club House, Wankhede Stadium, in Mumbai on Friday. Little did he know while attending the function that his stint as the Indian selector will come to an end within hours. If sources are to be believed, what could have come as a bigger surprise for him and others in the panel including chief selector Chetan Sharma, was that they were not even informed about their ouster. It was clear what happened when the Indian cricket board (BCCI) invited applications to find their replacement late in the evening.

As expected, especially after India's another failure at the T20 World Cup in Australia earlier this month, the selectors were allegedly made the scapegoat. It was during Sharma's tenure only the Men in Blue had failed to reach knock-out stage in the 2021 edition of the event and lost the World Test Championships final to New Zealand. A senior national selector normally gets a four-year term subject to extension.

It needs to be seen if the BCCI will turn its attention towards other members of the team management, including the coaching staff led by former India captain Rahul Dravid. There are indications that there could be separate teams for red and white ball cricket. The teams are expected to be led by two different captains. As per the BCCI's advertisement, the last date for submitting the applications is November 28. Those who wish to apply should have played 7 Tests or 30 first-class matches or 10 ODIs and 20 first-class matches, says the advertisement. They should have retired from the game at least five years previously, it added.

While Sharma and Joshi were representing North and South Zones respectively, the other two in the panel were Harvinder Singh from Central Zone and Debasish Mohanty from East Zone. Lad says need bigger ground to groom more Rohits

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

HE has been in cricket coaching since 1993 and produced cricketers like the current India captain Rohit Sharma and all-rounder Shardul Thakur. Meet Dinesh Lad, who recently was chosen for the prestigious Dronacharya Award. The coach took out time from his busy schedule to speak to this daily. Excerpts...

On Dronacharya Award...
I am very happy as my Guru (Ramakant) Achrekar sir got it 32 years ago. He taught me everything and now I am getting the award which he got. This makes it more special for me.

Rohit's beginning with you...
Our school (Swami Vivekanand School) started in 1995. In 1999, Borivali Sports and Cultural Association organised a tournament for U-12, 14 and 16 teams. He was playing for BSCA in the final. They made around 60-65 in 10 overs and we chased the target but the Rohit impressed me with his bowling. His action was of a proper off spinner. I called him after the match and asked him about his parents. He told me his parents live in Dombivli and he stays with his uncle Ravi here. I called his uncle and told him that his nephew is talented and can become a good cricketer. I called them to school. They came and filled up the admission form. The only thing they asked me was about the fee. At the counter, they were told that the fee is ₹275. They cannot afford that amount as they were paying ₹30 in their current school. I asked them to wait and went to our director. I requested fee waiver. I told him that we are a new team and we need talented players in our side and this boy is very talented. He immediately waived Rohit's fees.

How did he transform from an off-spinner into a batter?
It's my method that I used to ask batters to bat a lot and bowlers to bowl a lot. As Rohit was a bowler, I made him bowl a lot. We lost that year in the second round of Giles Shield and next year when we started practising, he progressed to 8th standard. Once I was entering school, I saw a boy batting with straight bat and playing good cricketing shots. I was wondering who this new kid is but when I went closer it was Rohit, I asked, 'Rohit, do you bat as well?' and he said, 'yes sir'. I asked why he didn't tell me and he said, 'how could I sir?'. After that, I asked him to bat at No 3 and 4 at nets. When Giles Shield matches started, I asked him 'will you open?' He immediately said yes and hammered 140 runs in his first match as an opener. That innings, in my opinion, changed everything. I started focussing more on his batting. I cannot say that I made him what he is today. He was talented and I only guided him.

Is it difficult to manage as you don't charge any fees?
It's not difficult as my school trustee helps me a lot. He ensures I get whatever I need. I just have a small ground in the school. We train there only. I am trying to get a bigger ground where matches can be held. Grounds in nearby localities charges around ₹10,000-15,000 per day and going to South Mumbai from here is quite difficult. If I get a bigger ground, a lot of kids can go on to play for Mumbai and even India if they are focussed, talented and luck favours them. Now that I'm selected for this award, I will request the government to give a ground to me.

On what the award means to him...
This is the biggest award of my life. This award has given me different status in the society. This is the biggest award a coach can get in this country. I believe this award will lead to many good things in the future. I hope the government gives me a ground so that I can continue with my work.

Chennaiyin FC seek first home win of season

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

CHENNAIYIN FC will look to move to the fifth spot as they face a struggling Jamshedpur FC in the Indian Super League (ISL) at the Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium here on Saturday.

The visitors, meanwhile, will be looking for their first away win of the season. They have had two away games so far and managed to get just a point. In their last game against Mumbai City FC, Chennaiyin FC were leading 2-0 at one stage before conceding six goals to lose the tie 6-2. The defeat extended the Chennaiyin's winless streak at home to three games, making it their second-longest winless run at home in the league. The longest came in the 2018-19 season when they went seven games without a win. Vafa Hakhamaneshi's return should bolster Chennaiyin's defence. Friday's results: East Bengal 2-4 Odisha FC.

COP27 IN OVERTIME, WAITS FOR BIGGIES TO OPEN WALLET

European Union tries to end stalemate by making final offer on creating fund for the most vulnerable nations; it is up to US and China to open their cards

CLIMATE

SHARM EL SHEIKH: UN climate talks that were supposed to end on Friday were extended by a day in an effort to break a deadlock over creating a fund for developing countries devastated by the fallout from global warming.

Representatives from nearly 200 countries have gathered at the COP27 in Egypt for two weeks with the aim of driving forward action on climate change as the world faces a worsening onslaught of extreme floods, heat waves and droughts.

But wealthy and developing nations were still struggling to find common ground on creating the fund and on a host of other crucial issues with only hours before the summit in the Red Sea resort of Sharm el-Sheikh was due to end.

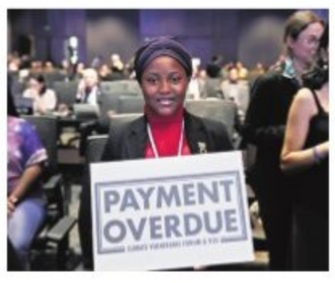
"Today we need to shift gears again, time is not on our side," Egyptian Foreign Minister Sameh Shoukry, who chairs the COP27 talks, told delegates.

"I remain committed to bringing this conference to a close tomorrow in an orderly manner."

The daunting list of urgent tasks includes finding agreement—and funds—for the emissions cuts needed to limit average warming to 1.5 degrees Celsius from pre-industrial levels, which scientists say is a safer guardrail to avoid the most dangerous impacts.

For many developing countries—and small island states threatened by sea level rise—the defining issues at the conference is money for the "loss and damage" caused by climate change.

A cascade of climate-driven extremes in recent months



—from floods in Pakistan and Nigeria to heatwaves and droughts across the world—have shone a spotlight on the ferocious impacts of a warming world for developing nations that are also struggling with debts and surging inflation.

In a bid to find a compromise, the European Union proposed on late Thursday the creation of a fund for the most vulnerable nations but warned it was its final offer.

The EU proposal indicated that the bloc, previously fearful of open-ended climate damages liability, has "shifted significantly", said Rachel Cleetus, lead economist at the Union of Concerned Scientists' climate programme.

But she said all eyes were now on the United States and China, the world's top two polluters, fresh from a thaw in their climate relations after a meeting between Presidents Joe Biden and Xi Jinping earlier this week in Bali.

"It's crunch time," Cleetus said. "There's no time anymore for the US to sit on the sidelines..." Cleetus added that China should also make its position clear, particularly on the issue of whether it would contribute to such a fund and pledge not to draw from it.

Earlier in the week, the G77 and China bloc of 134 developing countries proposed creating the loss and damage fund at the COP27 meeting, with other details to be agreed later.

European Commission Vice President Frans Timmermans said the EU offer had two "very important" conditions that differ from the G77 proposal.

He said the fund should be for "the most vulnerable" nations and the money should come from a "broad funder base"—code for countries including China that have become wealthier since they were listed as developing countries in 1992.

Sabotage confirmed on pipeline blasts

ENERGY

STOCKHOLM: The blasts which destroyed sections of the Nord Stream pipelines carrying natural gas from Russia to Germany under the Baltic Sea in September were acts of sabotage, Swedish officials confirmed Friday.

The Nord Stream 1 and 2 pipelines have been at the centre of geopolitical tensions as Russia cut gas supplies to Europe in suspected retaliation against Western sanctions following Moscow's invasion of Ukraine.

Four large gas leaks were discovered on Nord Stream's two pipelines off the Danish island of Bornholm at the end of September, with seismic institutes recording two underwater explosions just prior. Investigators had already said preliminary inspections had reinforced suspicions of sabotage. Russia and Western countries, particularly the United States, have traded bitter barbs over who is responsible for the blasts.

"The analyses conducted found traces of explosives on several foreign objects" at the sites of the blasts, prosecutor Mats Ljungqvist, who is leading the preliminary investigation, said on Friday. Ljungqvist added technical analyses were continuing in order to "draw more reliable conclusions regarding the incident".

Sweden's prosecution authority said the "continued investigation will show if anyone can be formally suspected of a crime". The Swedish Security Service (SAPO)—which is conducting the investigation under the prosecutors' leadership—confirmed the findings in a separate statement but both authorities declined to comment further. The closely watched investigation has also been supported by Sweden's coast guard, the Swedish armed forces and the police. While the leaks were in international waters, two of them were in the Danish exclusive economic zone and two in Sweden's.

At the end of October, Nord Stream sent a Russian-flagged civilian vessel to inspect the damage in the Swedish zone.

The same week the prosecution authority announced it was conducting a second probe of the damage to complement the first done in early October.

German army reservist guilty of spying

ESPIONAGE

BERLIN: A German man was handed a suspended prison sentence on Friday for passing information to Russian intelligence services while working as a reserve officer for the German army.

The 65-year-old, named as Ralph G., is the latest in a string of suspected Russian spies uncovered on German soil.

He was found guilty of providing Russian contacts with information on the inner workings of the Germany army, known as the Bundeswehr, between 2014 and 2020.

A court in Duesseldorf gave him a suspended sentence of one year and nine months, noting that he had pleaded guilty and had no criminal record.

According to the court, Ralph G. was in contact with several members of Russia's GRU military intelligence who were also military attaches at the Russian embassy in Berlin.

He provided his contacts with "a large number of documents and information about the Bundeswehr's reservist system in Germany", the court said.

FACT OF THE MATTER

Egg shortage lays UK low

INFLATION

A "full English breakfast" is not full without eggs. Whether fried or scrambled, they round out the calorific mainstay of traditional British cafes. But on top of inflationary pressures which have sent the price of ingredients soaring—including bacon, sausages and baked beans—Britain is also contending with a devastating outbreak of avian influenza. The result is a shortage of eggs, which has forced two cut-price supermarket chains—Asda and Lidl —to start rationing how many boxes customers can buy. Gursel Kirik, who serves up fried breakfasts in his "greasy spoon" cafe in central London, said a crate of 360 eggs cost him £20 ($24) to buy wholesale three months ago. Now it sets him back £68.

Heritage sites under threat

CLIMATE

One of the world's first cities came close to being wiped off the map during tragic floods this summer in Pakistan. Though Mohenjo Daro survived, it has become a symbol of the threat global warming poses to humanity's cultural heritage. Built in around 3000 BC by Indus civilisation in modern-day South Asia, Mohenjo Daro was not swept away by the floods, most likely thanks to the designers. Perched high above the Indus river, the city was equipped with a primitive drainage system and sewers, meaning much of the floodwaters could be evacuated. Nearly 1,600 Pakistanis died in the floods and 33 million others were affected in a disaster made worse by global warming.

NEW WEIGHT OF THE WORLD

Earth now weighs six ronnagrams: New metric prefixes voted in

SCIENCE

PARIS: Say hello to ronnagrams and quettametres: International scientists gathered in France voted on Friday for new metric prefixes to express the world's largest and smallest measurements, prompted by an ever-growing amount of data.

It marks the first time in more than three decades that new prefixes have been added to the International System of Units (SI), the agreed global standard for the metric system. Joining the ranks of well-known prefixes like kilo and milli are ronna and quetta for the largest numbers—and ronto and quecto for the smallest.

The change was voted on by scientists and government representatives from across the world attending the 27th General Conference on Weights and Measures, which governs the SI and meets roughly every four years at Versailles Palace, west of Paris.

The UK's National Physical Laboratory, which led the push for the new prefixes, confirmed that the resolution had passed in a statement.

The prefixes make it easier to express large amounts—for example, always referring to a kilometre as 1,000 metres or a millimetre as one thousandth of a metre would quickly become cumbersome.

Since the SI was established in 1960, scientific need has led to a growing number of prefixes. The last time was in 1991, when chemists wanting to express vast molecular quantities spurred the addition of zetta and yotta. A yottametre is a one followed by 24 zeroes.

But even the mighty yotta is not enough to handle the world's voracious appetite for data, according to Richard Brown, the head of metrology at the UK's National Physical Laboratory.

"In terms of expressing data in yottabytes, which is the highest prefix currently, we're very close to the limit," Brown told AFP. "At the bottom end, it makes sense to have a symmetrical expansion, which is useful for quantum science, particle physics—when you're measuring really, really small things." The new prefixes can simplify how we talk about some pretty big objects.

"If we think about mass, instead of distance, the Earth weighs approximately six ronnagrams," which is a six followed by 27 zeroes, Brown said.

"Jupiter, that's about two quettagrams," he added—a two followed by 30 zeros.

Rare midwest bird given protection

WILDLIFE

The US government announced protections on Thursday for two populations of a rare prairie bird that's found in parts of the Midwest, including one of the country's most prolific oil and gas fields. The lesser prairie chicken's range covers a portion of the oil-rich Permian Basin along the New Mexico-Texas state line and extends into parts of Colorado, Oklahoma and Kansas. The habitat of the bird, a type of grouse, has diminished across about 90% of its historical range, officials said. "The lesser prairie-chicken's decline is a sign our native grasslands and prairies are in peril," said Amy Lueders, Southwest regional director at the US Fish and Wildlife Service. The crow-size, terrestrial birds are known for spring courtship rituals that include flamboyant dances by the males as they make a cacophony of clucking, cackling and booming sounds.

After winning a coveted award for his debut book, Anirudh Kanisetti talks of writing about the Deccan region and the need to write accessible historiographies

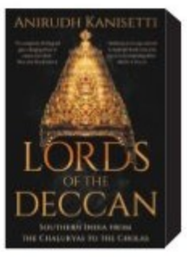
FORGOTTEN TALES

TUNIR BISWAS

IN 2016, author and public historian Anirudh Kanisetti found himself at a popular bookstore on Church Street looking for an English historiography of Karnataka. Being new to the city, he was keen on knowing more about the land where he would be spending the next few years of his life. So, when the person at the bookstore informed him that they did not have any English books chronicling the state's past, he was visibly taken aback. "I was new to Bengaluru and was interested in knowing more about the city and the state. So, when they told me they did not have any English books about its history, I found that surprising. Over the next few months, I began to explore Karnataka and realised it must have a tremendously rich heritage. While I could find academic journals about it, I did not come across any engaging historical accounts for a layperson," says Kanisetti, who is now based in Delhi.

After realising the dearth of English historiographies of Karnataka, Kanisetti spent the next few years working on his book. On January 30, 2022, when the world was still coming to terms with the start of a new year and the third wave of Covid, he published his debut book Lords of the Deccan: Southern India from the Chalukyas to the Cholas (published by Juggernaut, ₹899). The book opened to critical acclaim and recently won the Book of the Year Award (Non-Fiction) at Tata Literature Live! The Mumbai LitFest.

Getting the award has been a humbling experience, only because he did not expect to, and was pleasantly surprised when he was called onto the stage. "I was moved because I had poured quite a few years into this book. It reflects immensely on who I am and how I look at the world. To see this passion project being recognised so profoundly and be honoured so deeply by people I never expected to read it has been tremendously humbling," shares Kanisetti.



A big chunk of the research work for the book came through epigraphic material. "Fortunately for me, many of these archival records, especially the inscriptions made by the Kings in the late 1800s and early 1900s, have been digitised and put up online. That was incredibly useful. I was working in a think tank at the time and also had access to academic journals. I referred to sites like Library Genesis as well, which are under assault now, but they were extremely useful to me as a young scholar writing about this period," says Kanisetti.

He focused on this 500-year era because despite South India being the geopolitical centre of the Indian subcontinent at the time, it is seldom mentioned in retellings of India's past. "Imagine telling the history of Europe without telling the history of France. That's basically what we do for India, where we largely focus on the Gangetic plain. But in doing so, we are essentially ignoring land masses that are the sizes of entire European countries. For example, the Deccan is about the size of France and Germany, with over ten times the population. I show through my book how this region has been very central to making India the kind of country it is today," says the 28-year-old author, who is currently working on a book about the Chola dynasty.

In times like these, where there are multiple mediums to consume content, how can we make non-fiction about hefty topics accessible to new readers? "We are all aware of our reduced attention span, given the kind of content we consume nowadays. We need to write books that are as easy to get into as Netflix is, for example. Books that are based on hard historical research but told in a way that is palatable to modern sensibilities. I don't believe this would take away any of the academic credibility of the work," concludes Kanisetti, who also hosts two podcasts 'Echoes of India' and 'YUDDHA: The Indian Military History Podcast'.

It is a side lunge exercise that is a part of the hip opening sequence. It is practised as a transitional pose in a flow but when practised separately, it deepens the stretch of glutes, hamstrings, and quads muscles. It is an advanced variation of Malasana.

STEPS

- Start in Prasarita Padottanasana. Standing straight, keep the legs a little wider than shoulder-distance.
- Come in a half-squat position on your right leg.
- Then, turn your right foot outward, bend the right knee, and lean toward the right side while keeping the left leg straight, shifting your body weight slowly to the right leg. Flex your left foot and point your toes upward.
- Press the left heel and firm the right sole to deepen the stretch. This is the final position.
- You can either keep your hands in Anjali Mudra for accumulating concentration to stabilise the pose, or simply put them on the floor.
- Hold the pose here for a few breaths then come in the central position (first step) and shift the weight on another leg.
- Follow the sequence of Skandasana: from left leg to centre position and centre to the right leg. Repeat it on the other side.
- Finally, stop in the centre position and relax in Tadasana. Beginners should go slow.

BENEFITS

- Engages the abdomen, resulting in invigorating core muscles (Abdominis, obliques, etc).
- Improves your lower body flexibility.
- Enhances blood circulation to the joints.
- Serves with fresh oxygen-rich blood loaded with nutrients to their tissues, ultimately strengthening them.
- Stretches intercostal (muscles between the ribs), which allows more freedom of expansion to the lungs.
- It assists in respiration.
- Opens up the hip joint, which further reduces the difficulty of the asanas demands 180-degree stretch like Hanumanasana (monkey pose).
- Increases the blood flow to the head, neck, and shoulder region.
- Induces a calming effect on the mind.
- Influences the Svadhishthana (Sacral) and Mooladhara (Root) Chakras and both are balanced.
- Both the Chakras give the practitioners a sense of security, groundedness, and let enjoy pleasures of life.

LIMITATIONS

People who have a knee and ankle condition, injury to the hamstring, groin, or hips should avoid this asana.

Menstruating women should avoid this. Pregnant women also refrain in the later trimester, and during the initial months consult a yoga teacher.

IT'S amazing how some weeks can whizz past full of froth and flounce and some weeks have enough gravitas to last out the month. As expected, whenever big things are about to happen in my life... I hurt myself!

Ah well! One can't have everything in life now can they? But, I am truly grateful for all the love, affection and experiences that come my way. I was thrilled to be invited to the buzzing pub/restaurant Alchemy, to meet celebrity chef Hari Nayak, a partner and chef at Sona, Priyanka Chopra's Indian restaurant in NYC. I remember hearing about the $12 samosas being served at the swish NY address and being even more intrigued to meet him in namma ooru. His self-effacing charm surprised me (he is a local Udipi boy at heart) and he let his innovative menu curated for Alchemy do all the talking. Now Alchemy serves the best brews with a dollop of fine-dining too!

Manisha Sharma, Miron Thomas and Kaushalya Ramani

My foodie-friend Aslam Gafoor hosts the most elegant soirees. This time around it was the Renaissance Hotel on Race Course road. As promised, his guests were well informed and friendly people with corporate backgrounds and from different parts of the world. This made for scintillating conversations with much laughter as well as serious inputs from his cognizant guests. The sit-down dinner was curated perfectly with the wines and the cuisine had an international flair that was thoroughly enjoyed by us all. My dinner companions Miron Thomas, VP Volvo-Penta and Limor Bletter, Deputy Consul General of Israel were a coruscating kaleidoscope of different narratives. I was satiated with food for the mind and body!

When noted Sahitya Akademi winning author and historian Vikram Sampath invited me for the launch of his latest book Braveheart's of Bharat: Vignettes from Indian History, where he would be in discussion with stalwart Sudha Murthy, and the erudite young Maharaja of Mysore, Yaduveer Krishnadatta Wadiyar, I all but jumped with joy! This is auld Bangalore where being connected to ones' roots is a virtue. The book discussion headed by the effervescent Vasanthi Hariprakash was informative and there were many eye-opening moments for me. The young Maharaja blew me away with his perfect grasp of his family history and he was succinct, engaging and very impressive. I adore Sudha Murthy and her easy charm, with a vast knowledge of Indian history had the audience spellbound. Vikram was his erudite self and the way he intelligently dealt with sticky questions was wonderful to watch and hear. History is factual and a learning tool for the future. Political jingoism and distortion will only dilute the rich canvas of the past. Vikram made sure that came out very clearly and kudos to him for doing so.

Yaduveer Krishnadatta Wadiyar and Vikram Sampath

There is a very uncomfortable trend where certain undesirables have penetrated the fabric of our genteel city. Their exterior seems polished enough but a tipple or two will release the demons. They are rude, opportunistic and transactional. They invent themselves to pass off as 'kosher' and are self-styled culture and food Nazis. Bengaluru is waking up to say 'Nuff' is Nuff'!

The past is history, tomorrow is a mystery and today is a gift... that's why it's called a 'present'!

SAPTHAMI GOWDA TO STAR ALONGSIDE ABHISHEK AMBAREESH IN KRISHNA'S KAALI

Speculations are rife about the Kantara's heroine's next film, which is in the initial stages of discussion

Sapthami Gowda

A SHARADHAA

ALL eyes are on Sapthami Gowda, the Popcorn Monkey Tiger actor, who has become a most-sought after name in the state through the blockbuster Kantara. The film directed by Rishab Shetty starring himself in the lead had Sapthami playing a character named Leela. The action thriller, which has been declared a blockbuster, completes 50 days on November 18.

While Rishab is taking a short break in Dubai, Sapthami recently visited temples in Mangaluru along with her mother. Meanwhile, there is a strong buzz about her next film, as she is reportedly being considered by filmmakers from various languages. However, going by the latest development, she is part of Gajakesari, and Pailwaan director S Krishna's upcoming film, Kaali which stars Abishek Ambareesh in the lead.

Kaali is a romantic period drama set in the 1990s in the backdrop of the Cauvery riots, and the film will be produced under RRR Motion Pictures banner. The director, who was very particular about the female lead's casting wanted to rope in an able performer, who will also be a good pair for Abhishek. He feels Sapthami Gowda fits the bill in every way, and in all likelihood, the director is considering casting her.

A reliable source states that the director and actor have already met a few days ago had their first round of talks, and Sapthami is said to have shown interest. However, the two are yet to finalise the deal. The director has kept a lot of details under wraps.

When asked Sapthami about her other upcoming projects she shares that she has been approached for a handful of projects, from various languages including Hindi. However, she is currently prioritising Kannada films. "I am in talks with a few directors, and Krishna's film Kaali has been one of them. However, it is still at the initial stages of discussion. The one line is interesting, but we need to sit for a few more discussions, before the final nod," she says.

Currently, Abishek is in the last stages of completing the shooting patchwork for Suri's Bad Manners. The film starring the actor as a cop is expected to be a February release.

Along with Spike, Jalysa and Rebecca will also executive produce along with Trevor Engelson.

It is to be noted that with their military background, both Jalysa and Rebecca have used their personal experiences of undergoing ROTC to pay their college fees before doing the military service.

'TRIBBLE RIDING WILL BE SPECIAL FOR A REASON'

... says Megha Shetty, talking about her next release

CE FEATURES

THE year 2022 seems to be ending well for Megha Shetty, who is getting a back-to-back releases. The popular TV serial actor, who marked her silver screen debut with Dilpasand last week, will be back with Ganesh-starrer Tribble Riding releasing on November 25.

"Tribble Riding was the first film that was officially offered to me. I was thinking about taking a leap from the small screen to films then, so it is special to me. However, Dilpasand was released first. I am playing a doctor in Tribble Riding and my character's name is Rakshita," she says.

Megha Shetty calls it an opportunity of a lifetime to work with the Golden star, "He is one of the most comfortable co-stars. Tribble Riding directed by Mahesh Gowda is an out-and-out comedy entertainer with lovely songs."

She is also looking forward to Kaiva, a film by Banaras director Jayathirtha co-starring Dhanveerrah. "2023 also beings with a bang as Kaiva is getting ready for release, and it will be my first film as a solo lead, and I have my hopes pinned on it. I also have Operation London Cafe, another interesting project in the making," she says

A still from the film

'The best thing about Raymo is the script itself'

... says Ashika Ranganath, who talks in detail about her role as a singer, being part of her first love story, her working experience with director Pavan Wadeyar, and one-film-old-hero Ishan, and more

Ashika Ranganath

A still from the film

CE FEATURES

RAYMO is the ninth film of Ashika Ranganath, and it marks her first collaboration with actor Ishan and director Pavan Wadeyar. "This is a film, which has been in the making for a long, thanks to Covid. However, the film has been the talk of the town since the time of its launch," says Ashika, ahead of the film's release on November 25.

As someone, who doesn't come from a film background, she always looked forward to working with the best technicians and Pavan Wadeyar was one of the directors on her list. "I enjoyed Pavan Wadayer's Googly, and since then I have been waiting to work under his direction. I got more excited when I got the narration. It is my first attempt at an out-and-out romantic drama, which is also musical. Usually, love stories give the heroines an equal role, and have something important to play, and Raymo will be one such film."

Ashika explains how she bagged the role, "According to Pavan, I have an innocent face, and that's one of the reasons why he picked me for the role. Half your job is done when the director thinks that you match the image he has for the character. Another 50 per cent goes lies in the performance. I didn't find it difficult to pull off Mohana's role. The character is more like me, with little variations. I enjoyed playing this role. However there are certain scenes that got me out of my comfort zone, and I believe my audience will see a new me in this film," she says.

Did Ashika completely follow the director's vision or took reference from her surrounding to play Mohana, the singer? "I have two variations in my character. As a singer, my one point reference was Shreya Ghoshal who gave me tips to understand a personality of a singer and the mannerisms. Apart from being a singer, she deals with her father, society, and the challenges that come along with it," she says.

To be part of a character, which you are not is always exciting, she says, and in particular, being a singer. "Everybody has a singer in them, good or bad songs are meant to be part of human life in every situation and different moods. Music is therapy for everyone, at least for most of us. But it needs a lot of talent to be a singer," she asserts.

Talking about her working experience with director Pavan, Ashika says that he is a very active and chirpy person. "He doesn't waste time. I am someone, who wants to be around such people and be active as much as I can. That's something I could learn from Raymo's director. His dialogues are realistic and relatable. He is a really good technician," he says.

She also has a few good things to share about her co-artist, Ishan. "The heroes whom I have worked till now, are mostly established ones and they come with experience. They would take the initiative to make me comfortable. However, with Ishan, it was the inverse. Initially, we did take time to communicate. But Pavan insisted on us building a rapport, with the film being a love story. Over time, we developed a good friendship, and it did work in our favour for the film. In a way, it also helped us pull off a few intimate scenes without any hesitation," she says.

Ashika says the best thing about Raymo is the script itself. "It has a lot of variations, and it is not a character-based story. Though it is a love story, there is sentiment and has the right kind of commercial elements. The film discusses the hasty decisions made by young generations. It also talks about young talents' struggle to succeed. It is a good entertainer with a takeaway message," she says.

Nine films in six years, Ashika, who is also getting offers from the Tamil and Telugu industries calls it a planned move. "I was ok to be working in films that came my way. But the success of Rambo 2 and the reception I got for Chuttu Chuttu song changed the whole perspective of my film career. It made me feel responsible and be part of good films. That's when I prioritised working with directors who bring the best out of me. That's the reason I am picky with my scripts. I took some time to work in other languages. However, all films are the same to me, and languages don't matter. But initially, I did feel like an alien in Tamil and Telugu, because of the language. Thankfully, I'm getting good support. But there is nothing like working in the language which makes you feel at home," she signs off.

Prajwal Devaraj is the saving grace of this masala flick

ABBARA

Director: Ram Narayan

Cast: Prajwal Devaraj, Nimika Ratnakar, Rajshri Ponnappa, Lekha Chandra, and Ravi Shankar

RATING 2.5/5

A SHARADHAA

The basic theme of Prajwal Devaraj-starrer Abbara is that 'The good should be good, the bad should be bad.' The revenge drama traces the story of a young man who has been waiting for 25 years to defeat a villain. He dons three different avatars in this out-and-out masala entertainer by director Ram Narayan, and the film takes us back and forth between the 90s and the present period. In the past, we see Vairamudi (Ravishankar) a land mafia, who kills two people.

Coming to the present, Vairamudi is attacked by a masked man (Prajwal Devraj), who is all out to take revenge. One of his roles is the specially-abled Prasad, who is in love with Vaishali (Rajshri Ponnappa). Then, he is Jai for Doctor Priya (Lekha Chandra), and then, he is Shankar, who falls in love with Sonu (Nimika Ratnakar). At one point, the three women realise that they are in love with the same person, Shiva. What's the motive behind Shiva getting into three different avatars? Why did he fall in love with three different women? Why is he chasing Vairamudi?

Ramnarayan has gone back to the good old days of presenting a masala flick but doesn't focus on the film's story and screenplay. The film does make us curious in the initial few scenes, with twists coming at regular intervals, but they don't really evoke interest.

The story of Abbara is about the tricks the hero plays only to destroy the influential Vairamudi, and this gives ample scope for Prajwal to deliver a massy performance. KGF-fame Ravi Basrur has done a good job with the music.

Unfortunately, in some places, even the serious scenes turn out to be comical. There is every possibility to cut the runtime of the film because a lot of portions meander for too long. Prajwal Devaraj is the saving grace of Abbara, and so is Ravi Shankar. Despite being a villain, he also gets to shine in comedy and sentiment scenes. While Kote Prabhakar and Arasu Maharaj shine as comedy villains, Shobharaj, Shankar Ashwath, Victory Vasu and Salman have handled their roles smartly. Vijay Chendoor and Govinde Gowda try hard to keep us in splits, but their respective roles doesn't add any value to the film. Overall, Abbara is definitely a watchable film for those who have been missing age-old masala flicks.
